ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden, Clontarf, return their sincere thanks for all kind inquiries and messages of sympathy in their bereavement.

IN MEMORIAM.

BASSETT—In loving memory of my dear husband, George W. Bassett, of South Parade, Waterford, who fell asleep 13th September, 1921. Deeply regretted by his loving wife and family. "Blessed are the pure in heart."

HERON—In ever-present and sweetest memory of our darling Ethel, who peacefully fell asleep September 14th, 1921.

"Not lost, but in Thy care,
Till by and by we meet
Our own, our dearly-loved,
Around the Saviour's feet.
Father and mother.

REDMOND—In sad and loving memory of my dear husband, James Frederick (Jim), who was called Home September 14th, 1920. Sadly missed by his loving wife and little son.

REDMOND—In loving memory of my dear grandson, James Frederick Redmond, late of 75 Russell av., died 14th September, 1920. "'Tis sweet to rest on the Saviour's breast."

ROWLEY—Forty-first Anniversary—In dear and grateful memory of my sweet sister, Louisa Rowley, of Rockmullen, Co. Monaghan, who died September 13th, 1881. "A friend loveth at all times, and a brother (or sister) is born for adversity."

WAYLAND—In loving memory of darling mother (Elizabeth Frances Wayland, Clonmel), who was called Home September 14th, 1921.

She is safe in her Father's House above,
In a place prepared by her Saviour's love,
To depart from a world of sin and strife,
To be with Jesus—yes, this is life.
Inserted by her loving daughter, Kathleen.

GOLF.

IRISH OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

PORTRUSH, Wednesday.

On the sixteenth green at Portrush this afternoon Harold Reade holed a two yards putt for a half in four, and won his match with Ector Munn. And then the holder of the Irish Native Championship walked up to the veteran golfer and warmly congratulated him on what every one of us regarded as a splendid golfing achievement. Reade, who is now in his 49th year, looked every inch a veteran in his old-fashioned, weather-beaten, brass-buttoned red golfing jacket, to which attaches a history, inasmuch as it is one of the original Royal Belfast golfing coats. It has been 39 years in use, having belonged to Mr. Harry Gregg, who presented it to to-day's winner twelve years ago. As far back as 1897 Reade won the Close Championship. Two years later he gained his second victory in that event, and his third championship was achieved four years subsequently. Yet he retains his old-time golfing skill, as we saw in Saturday's stroke competition and in his greatest feat of recent years—his 3 and 2 victory over Munn to-day. His golf on the way out did not bear the hallmark of brilliance. It was steady. Nor was Munn's play first-class. Indeed, but for two excellent recoveries from bunkers going to the seventh and ninth, where he laid his bunker shots dead, he must have been 2 down to his rival at the turn. As it was, they were all square at the ninth, although being out in an approximate 39, which was not bad golf in the heavy wind. Going to the eleventh hole, Munn was leading one, when Reade played a perfect pitch up to the hole, and with Munn short with the second and third he lost the hole, and they were again on level terms. This was the turning point in a very remarkable match. Reade, from a bad lie for his second to the next hole, got the green, Munn being short. A great putt from near the edge of the green gave Reade a 3, and he won a hole lead. The veteran's short game was the acme of accuracy. He hit a lovely niblick shot bang up to the pin at the thirteenth, when Munn passed the hole in "the like"; then, over-running the hole with his short putt, Reade laid a stymie, which his opponent failed to loft. Munn was now 2 down. He lost the fourteenth also through pitching short of the green, and failed to hole at the next for a half in 3, Reade becoming dormy 3, and the end came at the sixteenth as stated.

Meanwhile Gibb was progressing into the fourth round. The Scotsman, who was beaten by Roger Wethered in the English Championship, and has a couple of Troon Club records to his credit, made capital golf against Dixon, whom he beat by 3 and 2, and of those in the top half his chances at the close of this match were rated most highly. Spiller sprang a mild surprise by getting the better of Knox at the seventeenth hole; and as for the Carter and Macauley match it went much as was expected, the Royal Dublin man winning by 9 and 7, the Londoner halving two holes only—the first and the tenth. Cecil M'Connell has seldom played more convincing golf than against Captain Waddell, the big-hitting hon. secretary of the Portrush Club. The latter, who is plus 3, was, as he put it, "up against it all the time," and was 3 down at the turn. He could never make any impression on M'Connell, who ultimately became dormy 5. Waddell, however, played with grim determination, and took the fourteenth and fifteenth, but the match ended at the next hole in the Ormeau man's favour. Rev. MacDonald had no chance against Soulby. The difference in the quality of the golf played was fully reflected in the result, Soulby winning by 6 and 4. The holder, Wilson Smyth, likewise had an easy task, and Hezlet, Jackson, and Halligan gave most convincing displays, Halligan's triumph with a big margin of 5 and 4 over J. F. Stephenson being one of the surprises. At the end of the round Gibb was the solitary remaining representative from across the water. Cutler, the Royal Navy golfer, sustained an unexpectedly heavy defeat by S. B. Stevenson. The weather in the forenoon was disappointing, and a heavy wind blowing from the north-east severely tested the competitors at a number of the holes.

The fourth round was noteworthy for the exit of the holder, D. Wilson Smyth, whose match with Cecil McConnell attracted a big gallery. The elimination of the champion was the one real sensation, but when McConnell lost the first two holes few expected that the game would undergo such a remarkable change. At the fourth, however, McConnell had squared, and then ran up a sequence of wins, taking the next three holes, while he halved the eighth. Smyth got one back at the ninth, but he was then 2 down. On the way in McConnell put it up to the title holder in great style. He secured the tenth and eleventh, and the succeeding four holes were halved, the victor being one under fours from the turn.

The Reade and Maclean match had a remarkable and exciting termination. Maclean was 2 up at the ninth, and 3 up and 6 to go; but again the old-time champion pulled himself together in wonderful fashion. He won the 13th and 14th, and then halved the 15th and 16th. Maclean played the 17th wretchedly, and he made a bad mess of the home hole. He was lying clean for his third shot after topping his second, while Reade's second was bunkered. But Maclean badly duffed his third, and took four to reach the edge of the green. Reade hit his bunker shot over the green, but ran down a fine approach, and holed the putt for the match.

Soulby did not play up to his form on the way out with Weir, who was leading him all the way to the seventh, where the Queen's University man squared in 5, although his ball was buried in a bank. He turned 1 up, and then came some of his finest golf. He had four 4's running, and sunk a great long putt for a 2 at the 14th, to clinch matters by 5 and 4.

Carter, as in the morning, played excellent golf against S. B. Stevenson. Like MacAuley Stevenson failed to win a hole from the Dublin man, who, out in 39, including sixes at the second and fourth, turned 3 up, and holing a long putt for 2 at the fourteenth brought the match to a close by 5 and 4.

Spiller disposed of the last of the cross-Channel entry, beating Charles Gibb 4 and 3, and Halligan went down to Lowe, who qualified to meet Hezlet to-morrow, the latter administering a thrashing to Jackson, who put up a poor fight against him.

THIRD ROUND.

UNION DOCTOR'S SALARY.

LADY PRACTITIONER'S DIFFICULTY.

At yesterday's meeting of the Dublin Guardians, Mr. O. Foley, chairman, presiding, the only business was the election of a temporary resident medical officer, for which position there were seven applicants.

The clerk read a letter from Dr. Morgan Kavanagh, one of the candidates, who stated that owing to the failure of the Local Government Department to confirm the increase in remuneration for the appointment—an increase already approved by the Guardians—a somewhat strained position between the Local Government Department and the Medical Association had arisen, and candidates for that post would be regarded as "letting down" their professional brethern by not insisting on the increased remuneration sanctioned by the Government, and would be regarded, more or less, as professional "blacklegs."

Dr. Morgan, in conclusion, stated that in the circumstances, he would withdraw his candidature.

A letter was also read from Dr. T. Hennessy, medical secretary, Irish Medical Committee, in which he pointed out that the salary, including the ration allowance, was altogether inadequate. The salary now offered would, 50 years ago, be considered insufficient. He was informed by the Guardians on May 23rd, 1921, that the Finance Committee of the Union considered the salary paid the doctors inadequate, with the result that a subsequent meeting voted that the resident medical officer be paid £6 6s. per week, exclusive of rations. Dr. Hennessy added that as the increase had not so far been sanctioned, he suggested that the appointment be postponed pending the decision of the Local Government Department. None of the candidates put in an appearance.

The Chairman said that he did not see how they could proceed with the election in the absence of the candidates.

Mrs. Evans said that they were being treated very rudely by these doctors.

Mr. Hely said that the salary they offered, with allowances, amounted to close on £300 and was quite adequate.

Some guardians suggested that the election should be postponed.

The Chairman read a letter from four of the candidates stating that they regarded the salary offered in the advertisement as inadequate, and withdrawing their names pending the decision of the Local Government Department.

The Chairman said that two of the candidates had not written, and he presumed that they were willing to go forward. They were Drs. Carmel Farrell and Annie Scully. It was decided to proceed with the election, as between Dr. Scully and Dr. Farrell.

In the result, Dr. Scully was declared elected, 20 votes being recorded for her, and none for Dr. Farrell. Seventeen guardians refrained from voting.

When Dr. Scully was declared elected and was called before the Board, she said that her election had placed her in a very awkward position, inasmuch as she was informed that the other doctors had declared that they would not work with her. She was not a member of the Association, but she told them candidly that she considered the salary an adequate one, and much more than she was receiving, although she was a first-class honours' student. Dr. Hennessy had come along at the eleventh hour and said that the doctors should not go forward. She had not joined the Association for reasons of her own. She had worked as well as she possibly could, and personally did not care whether she got the position or not, but she had worked in a straightforward way for it.

Mr. Hely said that he thought Dr. Hennessy had acted in a very reprehensible manner, and he had placed the guardians in a very uncomfortable position.

EVIDENCE FOR DIVORCE.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

A strange story was told at the Old Bailey, London, yesterday, before the Common Serjeant, when George Charles Charman (34), a gardener, pleaded not guilty to a charge of conspiring with Emily Didman to pervert the due course of law and justice.

Prosecuting counsel explained that the accused man was alleged to have conspired with the woman to manufacture false evidence by means of which it was intended to enable his wife to obtain a divorce. The prisoner had been twice confined in Brixton Prison for non-compliance with a maintenance order. In 1920 the prisoner received a letter from his wife threatening that if he did not supply her with evidence of his having committed misconduct in order that she might secure a divorce she would proceed against him under the maintenance order and have him sent to prison again.

Later, said counsel, he met a young single woman named Emily Didman, with whom he was acquainted, and persuaded her to accompany him to a hotel in Waterloo road. There they engaged a bedroom and had tea. No misconduct took place, and after disturbing the bedclothes to make it appear that the bed had been occupied they left the premises. Subsequently divorce proceedings were instituted, but were abortive, and the papers were ordered to be sent to the Public Prosecutor.

Emily Didman, a frail young woman, wearing glasses, said that after a lot of pleading on Charman's part she consented to his proposal, but only on the distinct understanding that no misconduct occurred. The prisoner signed the visitors' book "Mr. and Mrs. Charman." They occupied a bedroom and tea was served, but no misconduct took place. She understood that it was to prevent him from being sent back to prison. She did not understand that it was to provide evidence for the Divorce Court or she would not have done it.

Giving evidence, the prisoner said that on being demobilised from the Army he found that he had no home to go to, his wife being in lodgings. It was entirely because of the wife's threats that he persuaded the girl to accompany him to the hotel, though he had no idea at the time of thus securing evidence for divorce purposes

It was stated that the prisoner bore an excellent character in civil and Army life.

Passing a sentence of four months' in the second division, the Common Serjeant said that it was scandalous how that Divorce Court judges were being deceived. The sentence in other cases would be severe.

OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

INSTRUCTION TO NORTHERN CIVIL SERVANTS.

The Government of Northern Ireland has circularised the public bodies, instructing them to call on all their officials to sign a declaration of allegiance to the King and the Northern Government.

The circular reads:—

I am directed by the Minister of Home Affairs for Northern Ireland to draw your attention to Section 5 (2) of the Local Government Act (Northern Ireland), 1922, regarding the declaration of allegiance to be taken by officers of local authorities (including committees wholly or partly appointed by such local authorities) in Northern Ireland, and I am to request that you, without waiting for any further instruction, will forthwith call upon each officer of your authority to sign a declaration of allegiance in the form prescribed by the Act.

PROVISIONS OF THE ACT.

Section 5 (2) of the Act provides as follows:—"(2) Every officer holding an office of profit under or in the gift of a local authority or committee or joint-committee wholly or partly appointed by that authority shall make and subscribe the said declaration of allegiance:—

"(a) In the case of an officer holding office at the date of the passing of this Act, within one month after that date; or

"(b) In the case of an officer appointed after the passing of this Act, within one month after his appointment.

"No officer appointed after the passing of this Act shall enter upon the duties of his office until he has made and subscribed the said declaration of allegiance, and if any officer fails to make and subscribe the declaration within the said month, his appointment shall be void and of no effect."

FORM OF DECLARATION.

The form of the declaration as prescribed in Part III. of the Schedule to the Act is as follows:—

"I, ———, hereby declare that I will render true and faithful allegiance and service to His Majesty King George the Fifth, his heirs and successors, according to law and to his Government of Northern Ireland.

"———, signature of person appointed.

"Dated this ——— day of ———."

An order has been made by the Ministry on this date directing that the declaration of allegiance may be made and subscribed before any Justice of the Peace or Commissioner to administer oaths or where the secretary or clerk of a local authority has made the declaration in that manner, the declaration of other officers of the same local authority may be made and subscribed before him.

The order further provides that the declaration of allegiance is to be made and subscribed in duplicate, and a duplicate copy transmitted to this Ministry within seven days after it has been duly made and subscribed. The other copy should be retained and filed in the offices of the local authority.

I am to draw your particular attention to the fact that such declaration must be signed within one month from the date of the passing of the Act.

The Act received the Royal Assent on the 11th September, and a copy of the same, together with a copy of the Ministry's Order of this date, will be forwarded to you in due course.

MATER CARNIVAL.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable nature of the weather yesterday, the Mater Carnival and Fête was again well attended during the afternoon and evening, and the ballroom was the scene of gaiety during the night. A great advantage of the site at Ballsbridge is that it affords shelter from the cold and rain. Most of the show is under cover, such as the Central Hall, with its varied attractions and tasteful decorations, the cafés, lounges, refreshment rooms, hippodrome, railway sections, and ceilidh halls, and hundreds found pleasure in visiting the numerous sections.

Children were specially catered for yesterday, a feature of the Fête being the Grand Fancy Dress Ball and Children's Carnival, which was arranged under the direction of Madame Rock. The dresses were extremely pretty and artistic, and showed not a little ingenuity in their construction. Little Miss Vera Latchford was a dainty figure, who was present as "Irish Society," but she was one only of a very large number of aspirants for a prize.

The Carnival was carried out with thoroughness, and afforded great enjoyment to everyone present.

The Ceilidh Hall won great popularity, and the Irish dancing competitions attracted great numbers of both spectators and competitors. In the Reel alone there were ninety competitors, and an excellent display was witnessed by a large and keenly interested audience. In communicating the result of the evening's competition, Mr. J. M. Lang, the adjudicator, who is supported by Mr. T. Lawlor, said that the dancing was the best he had seen for a long time. The standard was remarkably high, and great difficulty was experienced in arriving at a result owing to the keenness of the competition.

An excellent programme for the coming week has been laid out.

DUBLIN BUILDING TRADE.

The situation in the building trade has undergone no change. The builders' labourers belonging to the Irish Transport Union maintain the attitude that they have taken up in rejecting the revised proposal of the employers to reduce their wages by 1½d. per hour.

Building operations are still hampered, since tradesmen, though willing, cannot carry on without the labourers.

During the three months June, July, and August, the frontier section of the Cologne District Police confiscated motor cars and cycles, dynamos, clothing, watches, rings, drugs, and other articles which Germans, tempted by the disparity between their own currency and that of their neighbours, tried to smuggle across the border.

Banish Nervous Fears with Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Flatulence, Nerves and Dizziness

Indigestion that Ruined Health and Working Capacity. Strength Restored by Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Mr. J. Harding, of 31 Maysoule road, Ploughroad, Battersea, London, S.W. 11, says:—"About a year ago I began to feel out of sorts. I could not enjoy food and was very nervous. This got worse and soon there was pain after everything I ate. I went dizzy with it, too, and as my work is in connection with the erection of iron structures and I have to climb high, this was a serious matter for me. I became afraid to go up a ladder. Another trouble was flatulence. It nearly choked me. I felt as though someone was gripping my throat and squeezing it tight. Everything I looked at seemed to be going round. I had advice and medicine time and again, but it was all no use. At last a friend advised me to get Dr. Cassell's Tablets and I did. Then I got rid of the wind, and began to enjoy my food again. Soon all the indigestion was gone, and my nerves were steady. Now I can run about on the tops of buildings and do my work with the best."

PORT BOARD LAW OFFICER

FIFTEEN CANDIDATES.

A special meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board was held yesterday—Mr. David Barry, Chairman, presiding. The meeting was called for the purpose of appointing a Law Agent in succession to Mr. R. A. Andrews, deceased. The salary attached to the appointment is £500 per annum to cover all the duties; all actual "costs out of pocket," including scrivenery for Parliamentary work, to be paid in addition by the Board, the holder of the appointment not to be considered as entitled to a superannuation allowance.

There were fifteen candidates for the position, and it was decided to hold the election by ballot.

The following were left in after the first ballot:—James Fitzgerald (D. and T. Fitzgerald), 17; Matthew Good, 11; Ernest W. Proud (Cochrane and Co.), 10; Kenneth S. Reddin (Reddin and Reddin), 11; H. A. Porter Taylor (Taylor, Son, and Robinson), 13.

On the second ballot, Mr. Proud, who received seven votes, fell out, and a vote was taken between Messrs. Fitzgerald, Good, Reddin, and Taylor, and resulted as follows:—Fitzgerald, 13; Good, 11; Reddin, 6; Taylor, 12.

The name of Mr. Reddin was dropped out, and a vote taken between the three remaining candidates resulted as follows:—Fitzgerald, 13; Good and Taylor, 10 votes each. A supplementary vote was taken between Messrs. Good and Taylor, and resulted in Mr. Good getting 14 votes to 9 for Mr. Taylor. A final vote was taken between Messrs. Fitzgerald and Good, when the former was elected by 15 votes to 8 for Mr. Good.

THEATRE WORLD CRISIS.

PROPOSED BIG COMBINATION.

Trouble is brewing in the theatrical world where the one topic of conversation this week is the notice which the Association of Touring Managers has given to terminate the standard touring contract.

Mr. Henry Oscar, of the Actors' Association, and joint director of the London Players, in a statement to the Star, says that the crisis is turning the minds of the artists to broader methods of organisation, and opinions are now strongly in favour of federation with the Variety Artists, the Musicians' Union and the National Association of Theatrical Employés.

"This formidable group," added Mr. Oscar, "composing all the working elements of the stage, could close every theatre in a night. The Association of Touring Managers will have to look carefully before it leaps so decidedly into the dark."

Replying to a mixed deputation at Melbourne on Tuesday, Mr. Massey Greene, the Minister of Defence, said that there was no hope of abolishing the compulsory provisions of the Defence Act.

DUNDALK.

MODERATE RACING.

BEN CRUCHAN'S EASY WIN.

The threatening appearance of the morning doubtless kept many local people away from the Dundalk Meeting yesterday, but the special train from Dublin was heavily laden. The rain of the early morning cleared off before racing started, and the afternoon, if dull, turned out fine. The racing was not of a very exciting character, runners being fewer than anticipated, and, though one of the best steeplechasers in the country—namely, Ben Cruchan—was a winner, his opponents were of such inferior class that he had what practically amounted to a walk over. It was his first appearance on a racecourse since his journey to France, and though jumping none too well in the early stages, when he settled down he took the fences in his usual finished style, and there was never any doubt about his ultimate easy victory. Mr. Ussher's stable captured two races, and Mr. Walker's stable was also twice successful, both of the latter's winners being ridden by C. Aylin, while F. B. Rees and E. Quirke were the jockeys concerned in the Dublin stables' successes.

Royal Cell was preferred to Saxham in the wagering over the Castlebellingham Plate, but he never held out any hope to his supporters, and the one to trouble Mr. Ussher's horse was old Enchanted Duke, who battled out the finish gamely, but succumbed by half a length. An objection to Saxham for bumping subsequently lodged was over-ruled. Alianna upset the odds laid on Tyrrell's Pass for the Tally-Ho Plate, and the favourite, failing to stay, could not even finish second. Maxtoi and Revelation had a great set-to for the Dundalk Steeplechase, the former ultimately prevailing by half a length. At the commencement of the race Maxtoi's jumping was not too polished, but later he improved and he is evidently a useful recruit to the steeplechasing game, this being his second success in the jumping branch of the sport in his first season at it. Speir Bean, making every post a winning one, dominated the situation all through the Castletown Plate, in which Treble Scotch ran in rather disappointing fashion. Sunny Bird, the favourite for the Exchange Plate, served by a quick beginning, also led the way and won in easy style. Details:—

FOURTEEN REMANDS.

ACCUSED MAN ALLOWED BAIL.

Mr. Justice Brown, sitting as Vacation Judge in Belfast yesterday, allowed bail in the case of William Brown, jun., Dunamoney, Magherafelt, who was in custody charged with the murder of James M'Keown, Ballymulderg, County Derry, on May 11 last.

His lordship fixed bail at two sureties of £1,000 each.

Counsel, in support of the application for bail, read the affidavit of the accused man, who protested his innocence, and declared that since his arrest he had been remanded fourteen times.

Counsel said that the continued detention in prison was a great hardship to the accused man and his parents. The jury at the inquest on M'Keown returned a verdict of wilful murder against some persons unknown. The accused man was a "B" Class Special, and contended the identification was incomplete.

The affidavits of the Rev. George Gillespie and Mr. John Keightley, J.P., Magherafelt, giving the prisoner a good character, were also read.

UNPAID RATES.

SERIOUS POSITION IN KING'S COUNTY.

The serious position of King's County finances due to refusal to pay rates was referred to at meeting of King's County Hospital and Homes Committee.

The Clerk said that there was due to the bank by the Committee a sum of £7,450. The County Council owed them £16,250.

Chairman—Did you apply to the County Council for the money?

Clerk—Yes; but they have no money. It appears the rates are not coming in. He read a letter from the King's County County Council's Secretary, which stated that the County Council is not in a position to make any transfer of money at present. None of the rates for the current half-year had yet been collected, and there were thousands of pounds outstanding in rates from the previous half-year. As far as he could see if the present condition of things continue much longer all county business will come to a standstill for want of funds.

The Chairman said that the matter was very serious as their Treasurer might tell them that they could not get more money without security. If the rates were not collected the work could not go on.

The matter ended, it being understood that the position of the Committee's finances would be brought under the notice of the County Council.

MR. CROKER'S WILL.

HISTORY OF THE DISPUTE.

Mr. Richard Croker, the eldest son of the late "Boss" Croker, so long the head of the powerful Tammany Hall organisation in New York, yesterday discussed with an Evening Standard representative at the Ritz Hotel, London, the litigation which has arisen over the estates. As is well known, extensive law suits have been entered upon as a result of the late Mr Croker, who died at the age of 85, having previously made his heiress his young Cherokee wife. Already the actions have covered two years in the States of Florida and New York, and it is possible that there may be litigation in the Irish Courts.

"I came to Europe on my own business in England and France," said Mr. Croker, "and I have paid a visit to Ireland where I intended to visit by father's grave. He is buried in a private vault about 200 yards from the house on the estate of Glencairn, which covers about 600 acres. Unfortunately I was unable to carry out my wishes. When Mrs. Croker's solicitors at Dublin were telephoned for permission they referred me to Mrs. Croker herself. When she was asked, she said I must apply to her solicitors, so I came away without visiting my father's grave."

Mr. Richard Croker spoke with deep feeling of the great comradeship which formerly existed between his father and himself. "We were both fond of horses, and when we came over here together we used to attend the big race meetings together. Naturally, he said, I am disinclined to talk about all this business, especially as it is a matter of litigation. Perhaps, however it is not really understood in this country how the rift started between my father and his children, and since the point at issue has been decided in the American Courts—though an appeal is to be made—there is no harm in going into it. A trust fund for the benefit of the rest of the children, contributed to by both my father and mother, had been in existence some 25 years. It was then worth about £35,000, and the terms were such that it increased in value. I was appointed trustee, and, as such, did not participate or benefit in any way. Suddenly, to my amazement, about two years after my father had married a second time, I received a request from him that the fund securities should be handed over to him. I was in a dilemma. I felt that not only would it be unfair to my brother and two sisters to do this, but that I could not legally take such a course. On the other hand, a refusal would annoy my father. The outcome of it all was that an action took place with all its attendant bitterness, and the decision was given against my father. As I say, this verdict is to be appealed against.

Mr. Croker, jun., is a busy and prosperous business man, and he declared with a wry smile, that no doubt litigation in all countries was very slow and harassing to those who wanted to get on with their own affairs. It is mainly because of the two daughters that an attempt is being made to set aside the provisions of the late Mr. Croker's deeds of gift to his young wife.

COOKSTOWN SHORTHORN SALE.

The annual sale of shorthorns, under the auspices of the Mid-Ulster Shorthorn Breeders' Association, was held yesterday, the auctioneers being Mr. W. Lovat Fraser and Mr. Harry J. Fraser, of Messrs. McDonald, Fraser, and Co., Perth. There were 243 animals entered, of which a large proportion were sold. Prices were considerably less than last year. The top price of the sale was realised by Mr. R. M. Boyd, of Carnmoney, Belfast, who got 200 guineas for a splendid red heifer, calved 25th March, 1921—Carntall Secret, the buyer being Captain Cramsie, Ballymoney. Mr. David H. Bell, of Windmill Farm, Coagh, obtained 120 guineas for a heifer, Windmill Broadhooks Roseate, which was the champion female shorthorn at the Cookstown Show, winning the Castle Stewart Cup, the purchaser being Mr. Daniel Blackham, of Dunloy, Co. Antrim. Mr. Bell sold another heifer, calved 9th May, 1920, Rosewood Flower III., at 100 guineas, to Mr. Johnston, Fintona.

There were no English buyers present, but four large Scottish breeders picked up a number of animals at bargain prices. They were Mr. M. McGillivery, of Ross-shire; Mr. McWilliams, of Garbity; Mr. Dicarthley, Perthshire; and Mr. Taylor, Stirling.

RECORD BRITISH POTATO CROP.

Reports from all parts of Great Britain indicate that the potato crop this year is well above the average. The yield is about 10 per cent. above any previous year.

CANADIAN CATTLE EXPORTS.

Montreal, September 13.—Trade is dull and freights are weaker at $22.50 per head. Sailings to Liverpool—Turcoman, 458 cattle.

DUNDALK.

MODERATE RACING.

BEN CRUCHAN'S EASY WIN.

The threatening appearance of the morning doubtless kept many local people away from the Dundalk Meeting yesterday, but the special train from Dublin was heavily laden. The rain of the early morning cleared off before racing started, and the afternoon, if dull, turned out fine. The racing was not of a very exciting character, runners being fewer than anticipated, and, though one of the best steeplechasers in the country—namely, Ben Cruchan—was a runner, his opponents were of such inferior class that he had what practically amounted to a walk over. It was his first appearance on a racecourse since his journey to France, and though jumping none too well in the early stages, when he settled down he took the fences in his usual finished style, and there was never any doubt about his ultimate easy victory. Mr. H. Ussher's stable captured two races, and Mr. Walker's stable was also twice successful, both of the latter's winners being ridden by C. Aylin, while F. B. Rees and E. Quirke were the jockeys concerned in the Dublin stables' successes.

Royal Cell was preferred to Saxham in the wagering over the Castlebellingham Plate, but he never held out any hope to his supporters, and the one to trouble Mr. Ussher's horse was old Enchanted Duke, who battled out the finish game, but succumbed by half a length. An objection to Saxham for bumping subsequently lodged was over-ruled. Alianna upset the odds laid on Tyrrell's Pass for the Tally-Ho Plate, and the favourite, failing to stay, could not even finish second. Maxtoi and Revelation had a great set-to for the Dundalk Steeplechase, the former ultimately prevailing by half a length. At the commencement of the race Maxtoi's jumping was not too polished, but later he improved and he is evidently a useful recruit to the steeplechasing game, this being his second success at the jumping branch of the sport in his first season at it. Speir Bean, making every post a winning one, dominated the situation all through the Castletown Plate, in which Treble Scotch ran in rather disappointing fashion. Sunny Bird, the favourite for the Exchange Plate, served by a quick beginning, also led the way and won in easy style. Details:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

It is satisfactory to learn that the entries for the Kildare Hunt Horse Show, which takes place on Saturday next, 16th, exceeds all expectations. In fact, a record has been made in the jumping competitions. The show, as usual, takes place at Oldtown, Naas.

The trainers, Messrs. H. Ussher and R. H. Walker, each scored double events at Dundalk Meeting yesterday, and C. Aylin was twice successful in the saddle.

Le Journal (Paris) states that a promoter, having asked Johnny Kilbane if he would meet Criqui, the feather-weight champion of France, in France, and under what conditions, Kilbane replied: "I will meet Criqui in Paris in October for 100,000 dollars, plus travelling expenses for four persons."

Royal Lancer, who won the St. Leger so easily yesterday, is another feather in the cap of the National Stud at Tully, where he was bred. He was the first foal of his dam, Royal Favour, who is by White Eagle out of Order of Merit by Collar, out of Lady Rayleigh by Hampton.

Mr. T. J. O'Neill has accepted with Superstition for the Cesarewitch, and with Tremola and Bachelor's Heir for the Cambridgeshire.

Royal Lancer has incurred a 10lb. penalty in both the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire, bringing his weight in the first-named race to 8st. 2lb. and in the Cambridgeshire to 8st. 4lb.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The outlook for to-day is exceedingly bright, both from the point of view of the weather and a continuance of good sport. The Portland Stakes will be the chief attraction, and is likely to bring out a strong field of high-class sprinters. Granely has several times disappointed his connections since winning the Lincolnshire Handicap, but he appears to be nicely in here, and I take as a reasonably good thing for the race. Other selections are:—

Corporation Handicap—Buffoon.
Rous Plate—My Lord.
Alexandra Handicap—Milenko.
Princess Mary Stakes—Canary Seed or Advantage.
Wharncliffe Handicap—Iron Band.
Scarborough Stakes—Soubriquet.

MR. THORNTON'S XI. V. M.C.C. SOUTH AFRICAN XI.

SCARBOROUGH, Tuesday.

Following the ordeal at Scarborough on Monday, when their bowling met with such severe treatment that 407 runs were hit from it in five hours, the team for South Africa to-day found themselves engaged in an anxious task. Douglas at once declared the England Eleven innings closed at the overnight score, the touring side wanting 258 to escape the follow-on. This total in ordinary circumstances would no doubt have been reached without great difficulty, but unhappily the side laboured under a severe handicap in the disablement of Russell, a muscle of whose thigh proved to be so badly strained that he could take no further part in the match in progress, and was advised to take a month's rest. In Russell's absence Jupp was chosen to open the innings with Sandham. These two put on 51 for the first wicket, but although Jupp batted so cautiously that he took 90 minutes to make 30, three men were out for 87. Carr and Mead made a big effort for their side, staying together an hour and a half, and adding 95 runs, but following Mead's dismissal Fender and Carr went so speedily that six of the nine wickets were down for 205. Carr was let off in the long-field when 12. He played for a long time with unusual restraint. Afterwards he hit with judgment as well as power, and his 73, which lasted 1 hour and 50 minutes, included drives for a six and nine fours. Following Carr's departure Mann played a sound game, but although the touring team got to within two of averting the follow-on, Macaulay and Dolphin then fell to successive balls, the innings closing for 256. In the follow-on the tourists had thirty-five minutes batting, and losing Sandham at 19 left off 126 behind, with really only eight wickets to fall. The weather, although sunny at first, was too cloudy for the comfort of the five thousand spectators. Score:—

LAWN TENNIS.

EASTBOURNE TOURNAMENT.

SOUTH OF ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The feature of the play in the South of England Championships at Eastbourne on Tuesday was the astonishingly good form displayed by L. A. Godfree against F. G. Lowe. The latter, just back from Le Touquet, no doubt felt the difference in the surface, but he showed extraordinary steadiness in the last set, when Godfree, after being 1-3, led by 5-1 and 15-30 on the British Isles' international's service.

S. H. Smith is showing such good form that it would not surprise many people if he were to eventually beat a much younger rival. Mrs. Peacock was much too good for Miss Holman in the Ladies' Singles, and Miss McKane lost only one game to Miss P. Holcroft. Mrs. McNair is now in the last eight. Results:—

ANGLING.

The Glens of Antrim river had fallen to an unfishable level, but rose a bit yesterday; the Bush, too, was low and clear, and the Ballycastle rivers, after a considerable spell of low water, have risen into order. The club waters gave a few salmon when the river was in order, and the tributaries a good many bags of trout to the rods of local men. The Maine is in good order, and should fish well this week. The Sooty Olive, the Golden Olive, the Olive Quill, and the Claret are amongst the killing flies at this time of the year. There is a fine lot of salmon all over the Maine, but, as already noted, the fish that have gone up the tributaries will not return from them, poaching being rampant on the Glenwherry and the Cloughwater. The Sixmilewater and other Antrim rivers are in fair order, and giving sport. The Glens rivers have been most disappointing this season, having been either very low or over-flooded.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The Provisional Government, it was stated in Parliament yesterday, has the question of the relationship between the Free State and the six Northern counties under consideration, and Mr. Cosgrave will make a statement at an early date.—(P. 5.)

National troops have carried out extensive searches in County Cork and have captured several "dumps" of ammunition. Their posts have been attacked and patrols ambushed in several places, but the irregulars have been beaten off every time.—(P. 6.)

Instructions have been issued to civil servants in Northern Ireland forthwith to take the oath of allegiance to His Majesty the King and the Government of Northern Ireland in accordance with the provisions of the 1922 Act.—(P. 2.)

ABROAD.

Interest in the Near Eastern situation is centred in the victorious Turks' attitude towards the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. The Allies are unanimous in declaring that the freedom of the Straits must be maintained.—(P. 5.)

Accounts of the recent disorders in Multan, Punjab, indicate that religious fanaticism was at the bottom of the trouble and that the Mohammedans were the aggressors.—(P. 5.)

SPORTING.

At Dundalk yesterday the Dundalk Steeplechase was won by Mr. A. McCann's Maxtoi.—(P. 3.)

The St. Leger Stakes, the last of the English classic races, was won yesterday by Lord Lonsdale's Royal Lancer, who was bred in Ireland.—(P. 3.)

COMMERCIAL.

London Stock Markets were inactive, but prices were fairly well maintained.—(P. 7.)

Dublin Market was small. Prices remained firm.—(P. 7.)

The Straits.

When the first shot was fired in Anatolia three weeks ago we predicted the extension of trouble to the Balkans, and the latest advices from the Near East indicate that it is spreading rapidly. The Turks are planning an attack on Thrace, and the Bulgars are said to be making eager preparations to be "in at the death" of Greece. Bulgaria's activity has caused alarm in Bukharest and Belgrade, with the result that the Serbian and Rumanian Governments have informed Athens that, if fighting begins in the Balkans, they will spring to the side of Greece. With Turkey and Bulgaria ranged against Serbia, Greece and Rumania, everything seems to point to another Balkan war. Everyone of these States is nursing grievances and spoiling for a fight. If it were possible to localise a conflict between them, the danger to Europe would not be so great; but Italy could not afford to allow the Jugo-Slavs to enrich themselves at Bulgaria's expense. Hungary would seize the opportunity of invading Transylvania as soon as she found Rumania embroiled in a struggle in the South; and France, almost certainly, would throw her sword into the same scale as the Turks. Everything depends upon the Allies' decision in regard to Constantinople and the Straits. While the Turk remains more or less confined to Asia Minor there will be little danger of a Balkan upheaval. If he is allowed to make a bid for Thrace, all the fat will be in the fire.

The French Government is reported to be at one with Britain in insisting that the control of the Straits shall remain in Allied hands. M. de Montille, who is acting as French Chargé d'Affaires in London at present, has assured the British Government that France will support the British point of view, provided "that the legitimate aspirations of the Turks were safeguarded." This phrase may mean nothing in particular, or it may mean much. Whatever attitude may be adopted by Paris, however, one thing is quite certain. Britain will not allow the Turks to regain possession of the Straits. Of all the Allies Britain has pursued the most liberal policy since the Armistice. She is trying to help Germany and she is prepared to help Turkey; but on the question of the Straits she cannot, and will not, yield. Turkey's share in the war was far more important than the ordinary public believes. But for her it probably would have ended in 1917, and hundreds of thousands of Allied lives would have been saved. But for her grip on the Straits Russia never might have been defeated, the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk never might have been signed, and the Bolshevist tyranny never might have been enthroned in Moscow. Britain has suffered too much through Turkey's enmity to expose herself to the risk of another Gallipoli in years to come.

The Angora Government is virtually a creature of Moscow. Russian money established Mustapha Kemal in office. Russian advice inspired his attack on the Greeks. Russian guile conceived the idea of an offensive through Turkey against the Western Powers. Russia wants Constantinople and the Straits as badly now as she wanted them in the days of Peter, Catherine, or of Nicholas. The implications of the return of the Straits to Turkey are so serious that Britain ought to lose no time in coming to a definite understanding with the French. There can be no compromise in this matter. The whole structure of the British Empire has been rebuilt since the war, and the freedom of the Straits is the key-stone of the arch. The French Government may be quite sincere in its determination to support the British point of view, but the tone of the semi-official Press in Paris does not encourage optimism in this respect. It is a time for plain speaking. France must choose between the friendship of the Turks, which, at least, is of doubtful value, and the Entente with Britain, which produced the Marne. Greece does not enter into the matter at all. She invited disaster by her military antics in Asia Minor, and sympathy would be wasted on her renegade King. The issue is between the Allies and the Turks. It is just as vital now as it was when Allenby was marching on Jerusalem, and Allied weakness in facing it would be just as fatal now as it would have been then.

"Summer-Time."

The Provisional Government's reputation will be increased in the eyes of all sensible men by its readiness to correct a mistake. It announced yesterday a decision that "Summer-time" for the present year should expire in the small hours of next Sunday morning. To-day that decision is revoked. "Summer-time" in Southern Ireland will not expire until October 8th—the day when it will cease also to operate in Great Britain and in North-East Ulster. The change has been made on account of urgent representations by railway companies and other bodies. Much confusion, some loss and great irritation must have resulted if for three weeks there had been different clock-times not only in Great Britain and Southern Ireland, but in two areas of our own small island. The public can amuse itself now, with an easy mind, by "thinking out" some consequences of the difference. Of course, it would have upset all the railway time-tables. For three weeks the Holyhead mail boat would have been turned into a sort of Wellsian "time machine." Some trains would have crossed the frontier of Northern Ireland—by the clock—before their journey actually had begun. The confusion would have been appalling for thousands of people who live on or near the Northern frontier and do business on both sides of it. All kinds of queer situations would have arisen in newspaper offices, and a new upsetting would have been introduced into the already not too placid affairs of "An Phuist." Irish trade and commerce would have been affected in many small, but disconcerting, ways. Indeed, we can think of nobody whom the time puzzle would have gratified except the persons who make a hazardous living by "faking" the dates on betting telegrams. Apart from this aspect of the matter, the town-dwellers, at least, of Southern Ireland will rejoice in three further weeks of "Summer-time." The last fortnight of September recaptures often the warmth and sunshine of July; and, as a correspondent suggests to-day, "Summer-time's" gift of daylight is a useful ally of law and order. Even on political grounds we may welcome the Government's prompt and wise change of mind. Every consonance of its thought—however trifling—with that of the Northern Government is a national gain; every disagreement—however trifling—is a national loss. A working agreement with the Northern Government and a measure of understanding between the Northern and Southern communities will be essential conditions of the Free State's welfare. The general tone of the references to North-East Ulster in the Provisional Parliament yesterday was distinctly encouraging. If the President's promised statement is able to announce a rapprochement, a weight will be lifted from the hearts of all good Irishmen.

Trade with Russia.

The so-called sixty million pound agreement between the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated, Ltd., and M. Krassin, on behalf of the Soviet Government, is the first tangible result of the Bolsheviks' decision to encourage the foreign capitalist. In substance it amounts to the granting of permission to the Company to resume possession of its own property in Russia which the Bolshevist Government had confiscated, and has been trying, without success, to sell in Germany and elsewhere. It seems, however, that, though the German interests could not be induced to become a barefaced receiver of stolen goods, the new concession involves their becoming interested to a substantial extent in the Asiatic syndicate. Before the Russian revolution the assets of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated, Ltd., were estimated at sixty million pounds, but this total included a heavy investment in mines, railways, steamers, barges, saw-mills and blast furnaces, most of which probably have become scrap-iron and rotting timber under the Soviet régime. Whether the concession is even now of any great value is doubtful. Details of the scheme have not been published; but we may suspect that the deal is being made for the benefit of Russo-German interests, and that the British company is admitted chiefly as a means of establishing title to the concessions, which otherwise might have been disputed. Mr. Urquhart is a good business man, with large interests in Russia and a long experience of Russian methods. There is no reason to doubt that the deal will be beneficial to the shareholders of the British company if it prospers, and will do them little harm if it falls to the ground. That it will do anything material towards the re-establishment of British trade with Russia one may beg leave to question.

A Double Life.

To the black-coated fraternity, the men who toil laboriously to maintain what are known loosely, but unmistakeably, as "appearances," the life history of Mr. Philip Horatio Wormley, of New York, better known to the other half of his friends and acquaintances as "Beany," must have a philosophic as well as a romantic significance. Mr. Wormley led a double life. In business hours he—or rather "Beany"—was a poor, maimed creature that haunted the gutters of Fifth Avenue, exhibiting his dreadful sores, and making an excellent revenue out of the tender-hearted wayfarers. Mr. Wormley was a fraud; yet it is doubtful whether his means of extracting money really amounted to false pretences within the meaning of the law. However that may be, when night fell "Beany" doffed his rags and his sores in a convenient alley, emerged as a man dressed in the height of fashion, and, mounting his Rolls Royce car, drove home to his bijou villa in a fashionable suburb. There, it appears, the Wormleys were regarded as rather distinguished members of the local smart set. One day, however, a neighbour interested himself in Mr. Wormley's business to the extent of following him to his alley and seeing him emerge in rags, wounds and eye-patch. It is at this point that the romance of Mr. Wormley begins to lose its allure. Having been discovered and exposed, he fled, with Mrs. Wormley and the little Wormleys, to parts unknown. The story would have gone better if the neighbours, far from ostracising Mr. Wormley on account of his peculiar profession, had expressed their admiration for his courage and resource.

FRANCE'S EARLY WINTER.

SNOW, HAIL, AND INTENSE COLD.

Earthquakes, snow, hoar frost, intense cold, hail and violent storms have marked the past 24 hours in different parts of France. Snow has fallen in the mountain villages in the Pyrenees Orientales Department, in the Annecy and Grenoble regions, and in other parts of the Dauphine. In the Lyons district hoar frosts have done much damage to crops and vineyards.

Slight earthquake shocks have been felt at Saint Paul de Fenouillet in the Pyrenees Orientales Department, and at Sisteron, in the Basses Alpes Department. At Sisteron the shock was followed by a big hailstorm, which did much damage to crops.

Great storms also raged on the coasts of Provence and Brittany. At Toulon several colliers coaling a French squadron were driven ashore. While France has suffered thus, passengers who landed from the Mauretania at Cherbourg on Tuesday reported a heat wave in the Atlantic.

THE IRISH CIVIL SERVICE.

The Civil Service Federation have accepted the Government's offer to appoint as a temporary arrangement a small number of staff representatives to consult with the Ministry of Finance on general service questions. The new body will take the place of the National Whitley Council, but it will deal with all general service questions, such as would normally have come before the National Whitley Council.

The first meeting of the new body will take place early next week, and it is understood that urgent and important service matters will be dealt with.

IRISH CLAIMS BUREAU.

Considerable progress is being made by the Irish Claims Compensation Bureau, 64 Victoria street, Westminster, which is functioning under the Southern Loyalists' Relief Association in registering names of those having claims for compensation both in regard to damage done to life and property prior to truce and since. The Committee have decided to communicate with all those who have obtained decrees where the cases were defended, and point out that in such cases these people were entitled to immediate payment, and in all cases where payment has not been made particulars should be sent to the Secretary, Irish Claims Compensation Bureau, 64 Victoria street, Westminster, without delay, who will supply information as to what action claimants should adopt.

ICELAND'S GOOD FISHING YEAR.

Reports from Bergen state that the latest statements received regarding the Iceland herring fisheries show that the Norwegian fishermen have accounted for 106,806 barrels as against 57,000 last year. The Icelanders themselves have also had an extraordinary rich harvest this year, having salted 250,000 barrels of herrings.—(Reuter.)

COURT AND PERSONAL.

On her visit to Aberdeen to receive the Honorary LL.D. of Aberdeen University, the Queen was attended by the Duchess of Atholl, Lady Elizabeth Dawson, and the Hon. Sir Derek Keppel, and at Marischal College was received by the Chancellor, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon; the Principal, the Very Rev. Sir George Adam Smith; the Lord Provost of Aberdeen, and the Magistrate and members of the University Court.

The Prince of Wales arrived at Balmoral Castle yesterday. The Duke of York, who has been at Balmoral since he went North, is now the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland at Dunrobin Castle, where they are entertaining a house party, including Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten.

The Duchess of St. Albans is staying at North Berwick, and will not return to Cadogan Gardens till the beginning of October. The Marquis and Marchioness of Titchfield are visiting the Princess Royal and Princess Maud at Mar Lodge, but will shortly join the Duke and Duchess of Portland at Langwell, near Berriedale.

The Earl of Arran, K.P., who sits in the House of Lords as Baron Sudley, is fifty-four to-day. He is the only son of the fifth Earl, whom he succeeded in 1901. Formerly in the Royal Horse Guards, he was employed in 1896-7 with the Egyptian Cavalry, and served in the South African campaign. The Gore family are descendants of Sir Paul Gore, Bart., who came to Ireland with his regiment in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and, obtaining a grant of land, settled in Co. Mayo. His second son, Arthur, was created a Baronet of Ireland, and the latter's great-grandson was raised to the peerage as Baron Saunders of Deeps (Co. Wexford) and Viscount Sudley of Castle Gore, and was advanced to an Earldom in 1762. The full title is Earl of the Arran Islands (Co. Galway). Lord Arran married the only daughter of Baron Huyssen van Kattendyke, of The Hague, and they have two sons, Viscount Sudley and the Hon. Arthur Gore.

The Countess of Granard has arrived at Forbes House, London, from Paris. The Earl of Meath has left Chaworth House, Surrey, for Aberdeenshire, and is visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Lieutenant-Colonel and Lady Mary Holt, at Clashnadarroch. The Earl and Countess of Listowel, who have been staying at Folkestone, have returned to London. Lord D'Abernon is enjoying a brief holiday from his ambassadorial responsibilities in Berlin, and is staying at Doncaster for the races.

The premier Baron of Scotland, the twenty-second Lord Forbes, celebrates his fortieth birthday to-day. The title was conferred on Sir Alexander Forbes in 1445. Two younger sons of the second Baron were granted baronetcies, and these are now represented by Sir Charles Forbes of Pitsligo and the Earl of Granard. The present peer was formerly in the Grenadier Guards. In 1914 he married Lady Mabel Anson, daughter of the third Earl of Lichfield, and their son, who is four years old, bears the old Scottish title of Master of Forbes.

PRINCE IN KILTS.

WARM WELCOME TO THE HIGHLANDS.

An enthusiastic welcome was accorded the Prince of Wales on arriving at Aberdeen Station yesterday forenoon, on his way to Balmoral Castle. Notwithstanding that the time of arrival had been kept secret, and that the Prince was travelling incognito, there was a large crowd at the station when the train conveying His Royal Highness arrived. He was met by the Marquis of Aberdeen, who was passing through the station at the time.

The Prince wore a highland costume, his kilt being of Stuart hunting tartan, and, with a green Urquhart jacket and Balmoral bonnet, he looked well. He entered a motor car, and proceeded on the 52 miles' journey to Balmoral.

TROOP MOVEMENTS.

A further detachment of the 2nd Royal Horse Artillery Mounted Rifles, comprising 100 horses with 70 or 80 men, and several officers and their chargers, left the port of Dublin yesterday for Exeter via Holyhead.

The Oxford and Buckinghamshire Regiment will sail to-day.

A special steamer will arrive at Dublin to-day, and will convey across the Channel the headquarters of the 4th Brigade of Royal Field Artillery, who are travelling from Bulford and Aldershot via Holyhead. It appears that the soldiers will be accommodated at the Royal Barracks, Dublin. The contingent will include 14 officers and 280 N.C.O.'s and men of other ranks, 160 horses, 15 officers' chargers, and 10 field guns.

The Manchester Regiment is expected to travel by sea from Northern Ireland to-day, and will probably arrive at the port of Dublin on Friday.

R.A.F. MARRIAGE ALLOWANCE.

The Royal Air Force is introducing a new method for the payment of marriage allowances and allotments of pay. On October 5 the present system of issuing books of allowance forms will be discontinued and postal drafts will be issued instead direct from the Air Ministry to the payee, who will obtain payment fortnightly in advance at the post office named on the draft. Identity certificates (ring papers) will no longer be used when the new method comes into operation, but payees will require to notify the Air Ministry of all changes in address.

DERRY CUSTOM HOUSE.

Consequent upon the abolition of the collectorship at the Derry Custom House, the acting collector, Mr. Sibbett, has been transferred to Galway, and eight members of the staff are to be removed. The changes have brought about an important alteration in the collection (but not the assessing) of income tax. In future the payment of income tax assessed in Northern Ireland, under Schedules D. and E., must be made to the collector of Customs and Excise at the Custom House, Belfast. As regards Co. Donegal, the tax under the schedules named must be remitted to the collector of Customs and Excise, Galway.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

The Dublin Corporation ambulance attended at Broadstone Railway Station at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, and removed from the train, from Longford, Capt. Murphy and Privates Daly and Cassidy, of the national Army, to St. Vincent's Hospital. Capt. Murphy was suffering from shrapnel wounds in the legs, and Privates Daly and Cassidy from injured arms.

LONDON LETTER.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

It is understood that the British Government has not sent a formal Note to the French Government with reference to the situation in the Near East; but the Ambassador in Paris, Lord Hardinge, acting under instructions from Downing street, paid visits yesterday to several important members of the French Government in order that he might discuss with them the position of affairs, more particularly in regard to the freedom of the Dardanelles and the expressed intention of the Kemalists to seize them. As a consequence of these conversations, it is said to be clear that France, in addition to Italy, proves to be in substantial agreement with this country that the independence of the Straits must be maintained. The French Government will hold a meeting of its Cabinet to-morrow, and a declaration to this end may be looked for as a result.

To-day it is reported that M. de Montille has called at the Foreign Office here and intimated formally that the French Government is in agreement with the British Government on the freedom of the Dardanelles, and that his Government is ready to discuss anything that may lead to a settlement, "provided that the legitimate aspirations of the Turks were safeguarded." This is most gratifying testimony to the unity now prevailing among the Allies, though there is a feeling in French diplomatic circles that, if France supports Britain in this emergency, this country ought to change its attitude regarding reparations. The French are great hands at a bargain, and, possibly, there may be something in the suggestion.

AN EXPERT'S JOB.

The Prime Minister has acted as his own Foreign Secretary so often that it has been assumed that he is taking control of the very delicate negotiations now proceeding on the Near Eastern question. This, however, is incorrect. Mr. Lloyd George is leaving them to the Foreign Office experts. No Foreign Office in the world is so well equipped as our own with real experts on Eastern questions. The Prime Minister recognises this, and that the Department possesses far greater knowledge on all the points than anybody else. With his colleagues, therefore, he has decided that they will allow themselves to be directed by the people who really know what the situation involves.

The Turkish victory is like a pebble cast into a pool in the troubled East, and the unrest caused by it is spreading all round. It is stated that Serbia is mobilising and concentrating her troops at Uskub, and the Government, with that of Rumania, has expressed a determination to aid Greece, in the event of fighting in the Balkans. The Indian Mohammedans are taking a strong line on the side of the Turks, and it is likely that any claims put forward by the Kemalists will find considerable support. Against this it is to be noted that the unity of the Allies in Constantinople is strictly maintained.

A correspondent, writing to the Pall Mall Gazette, gives some interesting details concerning Smyrna, and says that it is rather remarkable that, while residing there, people forget all about the Turks. The language used is, probably, French, and the tongue heard all round about is Greek, so that it is hard to realise that one is in Turkey. It is not only that the Turks are in a minority—barely one-fourth of the total population—but that they take no part in the commerce of the place. Smyrna is essentially a commercial city, situated, as it is, at the seaward end of three valleys—those of the Hermus, the Cayster, and the Meander, the natural highways of the produce of the interior. In its outward aspect it is not strikingly Oriental. There are no arrowy minarets and soaring domes, as at Brusa and Constantinople. The mosques are small, and the Turkish quarter on the hill is naturally insignificant, compared with the much larger area inhabited by the Christians.

THE KING OF THE SERBS.

The King of Serbia made a most unceremonious departure from Victoria Station this morning. He left by the 10.50 train for Paris, but had scarcely allowed himself sufficient time to get to the station. On stepping out of his car he found several personages waiting to say good-bye, but the train was about to move. The King wasted no time, but made a rush for it, running along the platform, and getting to his carriage just as the train moved off. His servants in charge of his belongings were left behind and had to travel by the relief train. The Queen of Serbia is to meet the King in Paris for a stay of some days.

The agreement made by Mr. Urquhart with M. Krassin, regarding the Russian concessions, has yet to be accepted by the Soviet Government, a decision of which M. Krassin expressed himself as being certain. The Soviet Government, however, has done so many strange things in the past that the city people here are rather inclined to wait and see what happens before becoming enthusiastic. Nobody for a moment decries the great services to commerce performed by Mr. Urquhart, and, if the agreement goes through successfully, he will deserve the warmest possible thanks. There is in the City a great desire to resume proper trading relations with Russia, and, once it is beyond doubt that properties are to be restored to the British investor, and further concessions granted under reasonable conditions, there will be general satisfaction.

THE ROYAL AIR FORCE.

The Government's decision to give over the responsibility of maintaining order in Mesopotamia to the Royal Air Force reveals an official reliance on the new service which was scarcely suspected. It shows, beyond doubt, that the Air Force will become increasingly valuable to the country; for it will be able to render great service to the Empire in many outlying places as patrols, with means of seeing all that is going on, and, when necessary, checking any native risings or outbreaks without delay. It should, in fact, prove a most efficient Empire police, and, in order that it may remain so, it will be necessary to see that aeroplanes are not allowed to be acquired indiscriminately by the people over whom it is our business to watch.

Barely a day now passes without a development in the aerial world. Another new type of aeroplane has just been announced, described as a winged destroyer, intended to be used mainly for coast defence. It is fitted with a very high-powered engine, and has a range, when fully loaded with bombs or torpedoes, of over one thousand miles. Against such a machine the Zeppelin would stand but little chance, for it is able to climb into the air at a tremendous rate. It will be able to cruise at a speed of about three miles a minute. Four machine guns are fitted into the plane, and there will be equal facility for firing in any direction, so that enemy machines would be at a disadvantage in attack.

LIFE OF LORD NORTHCLIFFE.

Mr. Max Pemberton, who was among Lord Northcliffe's oldest and closest friends, is engaged upon a volume entitled "Lord Northcliffe—a Memoir." The book is to be issued immediately. Mr. Pemberton is probably the only man now living who knows the full story of his lordship's earlier years. "Some of the facts to be incorporated were dictated to me," said Mr. Pemberton, "by Lord Northcliffe."

THE CIVIC GUARD.
CHANGES IN JUDICIARY.
The Provisional Government met at 3 o'clock yesterday in Leinster House, Dublin.
In answer to a question by Mr. McBride, as to when it was proposed that the Civil Government should proceed to function in the country districts of Ireland,
Mr. O'Higgins, Minister for Home Affairs, said that the Civil Government would function as soon as possible. The position at the moment was that certain areas in the country were ripe for an extension and consolidation of Civil Government, and it was proposed at an early date to send out the Civic Guard to follow up the Army in those areas where the Army had restored conditions which would enable the Civic Guard to function.
There had been some delay in sending out the Civic Guard. Certain resignations had been tendered and accepted, and a new Chief Commissioner had been appointed. He was satisfied that this force would become an efficient and self-respecting force, and would become useful servants of the people.
Following on the establishment of the Civic Guard, stipendiary magistrates would be appointed. The British stipendiary magistracy had been dissolved because it was recognised that there was no useful future for that body of men in the administration of the country. The stipendiary magistrates would be drawn from the two branches of the legal profession, and the jurisdiction for the moment, at any rate, would be like that of their predecessors.
It was proposed to set up a Judicial Committee to review the entire system of justice in the country with a view to reconstruction. When the magistrates were appointed there would be available through the country a system of summary jurisdiction which would hold good until the larger scheme of reconstruction was introduced.
He thought that it would be possible within a fortnight or three weeks to have a Civic Guard placed in very many areas in the country, where they would help in enforcing law and order. (Hear, hear.)

VISITS TO PRISONERS.
Mr. Gavan Duffy asked the Minister for Home Affairs whether, and under what conditions, political prisoners were allowed to see their solicitors, and, if not, under what authority the Minister was acting; and whether he was aware that Dr. Bastable, of Glasgow, was arrested on the 8th inst., and imprisoned in Wellington Barracks, and what was the charge against him?
Mr. O'Higgins said that the use of the words "political prisoners" was scarcely accurate. The prisoners might be more properly described as military prisoners. They were men who were in arms against the Government, and who had given active assistance to those who were in arms against the Parliament and the Government. Prisoners taken in the war zone must be regarded as military prisoners. The Government in not allowing visits to such prisoners were guided by their military experts. In one instance it was found that a solicitor visiting a prisoner handed him a band saw. He might as easily have handed him a bomb.
The military authorities had released from custody a number of prisoners who gave an undertaking not to take up arms against the Government or Parliament, and not to interfere unlawfully with the property of their fellow-citizens. These undertakings had been broken. Prisoners who were found to be innocent were released with the minimum of delay. It was felt that no particular hardship was entailed upon prisoners. With regard to the arrest of Dr. Bastable, he knew nothing about it, and was not in a position to say anything about it.
Mr. Gavan Duffy asked if political prisoners, as the policy of the Government, were denied the right to see their legal advisers.
Mr. O'Higgins replied that the policy of the Ministry had been sufficiently explained.

POSTAGE.
Answering Mr. Darrell Figgis, who inquired whether the ordinary letter postage was to be paid at the rate of 2d., or 1½d., as at present in force in England under the English Budget law, the Postmaster-General said that the three-halfpenny rate in England was not enforced under the Budget law. Postal rates were charged for services rendered.
Alderman Corish (Wexford) asked the Minister for Education if he was aware that, contrary to the custom of previous years, successful candidates at the Easter scholarship examinations had not yet been called to training colleges, and if, in view of the dissatisfaction prevailing, he could give an assurance that this matter would have immediate attention.
Mr. Eoin MacNeill replied that the calling up of the teachers had been retarded by the conditions in the country since the 28th of June, but that now the college authorities are receiving eligible students.
Mr. Joseph MacBride asked the Minister of Defence whether, having regard to the fact that the claims for malicious injuries in Co. Mayo amounted to almost a quarter of a million pounds, and to the fact that a large proportion of these claims had arisen since the entry of the national troops into the county, it was possible to extend such protection to life and property as would ensure no further addition to the claims in question.
The Minister of Defence replied that everything possible was being done to prevent the loss of life or damage to property in Mayo, and the re-setting of forces in that area was intended more effectively to secure this.
The same Minister, replying to a further question—whether he would be prepared to allow permits to farmers for shotguns to enable them to protect their crops from the depredations of wild birds and vermin—stated that the matter had been constantly before the minds of the military authorities, and the necessity for issuing permits at the earliest possible moment was recognised. Machinery had been completed to control the issue of permits to hold guns, and the present restrictions would be withdrawn at the earliest possible moment either generally or in particular areas.
Asked by Mr. MacBride whether he proposed to introduce in the near future any legislation for the encouragement of trade and commerce, and by so doing to aid in the development of the country and the relief of unemployment, the Minister for Industry and Commerce said that the restoration of an ordered condition in the country would do much more to restore trade and commerce than any possible legislation, but the Government was considering what legislation might be necessary in that regard in the near future.

DAIL'S ACCOUNTS.
The Minister of Finance (Mr. Cosgrave) moved his report, which covered the period of six months up to 30th June. He read the report of the auditor in regard to the accounts of the trustees of Dail Eireann, in which it was stated that the cash balances at 1st January, 1922, as per last audited accounts, amounted to £237,603 18s. 9d., and the amount received in the half-year from all sources came to £199,905 1s. 1d., making a total on the receipts side of the account of £437,508 19s. 10d. The disbursements for the half-year amounted to £277,034 8s. 3d., showing a balance of funds in hands of £160,474 11s. 7d. The principal items on the receipts side were:—£34,780

THE SIX COUNTIES.

RELATIONSHIP WITH THE FREE STATE.

GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE.

STATEMENT BY MR. COSGRAVE AT EARLY DATE.

The postal strike and the relations between the Free State and Northern Ireland were the chief topics of discussion in the Provisional Parliament yesterday.

Mr. Milroy, who was elected as one of the representatives of Tyrone and Fermanagh in the Northern Parliament, pointed out that the bill to abolish proportional representation at Local Government elections in the six counties had received the King's Assent.

This, he said—and several members agreed with him—raised serious issues, and he wanted to know what action the Government would take on the whole question of the relations between South and North.

The Minister for Local Government said that the matter was under the consideration of the Government, and the President would make a statement at an early date.

The Labour members repeated the arguments that they advanced at previous sittings against the Government's refusal to recognise the rights of civil servants to strike. The Postmaster-General gave an encouraging report of the steps that have been taken to restore the services.

The Civic Guard, it was announced, is about to take up its duties in several areas.

THE CIVIC GUARD.

CHANGES IN JUDICIARY.

The Provisional Government met at 3 o'clock yesterday in Leinster House, Dublin.

In answer to a question by Mr. McBride, as to when it was proposed that the Civil Government should proceed to function in the country districts of Ireland,

Mr. O'Higgins, Minister for Home Affairs, said that the Civil Government would function as soon as possible. The position at the moment was that certain areas in the country were ripe for an extension and consolidation of Civil Government, and it was proposed at an early date to send out the Civic Guard to follow up the Army in those areas where the Army had restored conditions which would enable the Civic Guard to function.

DAIL'S ACCOUNTS.

The Minister of Finance (Mr. Cosgrave) moved his report, which covered the period of six months up to 30th June. He read the report of the auditor in regard to the accounts of the trustees of Dail Eireann, in which it was stated that the cash balances at 1st January, 1922, as per last audited accounts, amounted to £237,603 18s. 9d., and the amount received in the half-year from all sources came to £199,905 1s. 1d., making a total on the receipts side of the account of £437,508 19s. 10d. The disbursements for the half-year amounted to £277,034 8s. 3d., showing a balance of funds in hands of £160,474 11s. 7d. The principal items on the receipts side were:—£34,780 6s. 11d. remitted from U.S.A. in respect of loan; the proceeds of 400,000 dollars remitted from U.S.A. for special investment; Self-Determination Fund, £22,571 7s. 6d., of which £22,524 was remitted from Australia; £22,725 2s. 11d. representing cash returned by British authorities, with interest thereon; £5,953 17s. 9d. interest received and accrued on the bank balances; £8,566 0s. 6d. revenue receipts, and £12,665 1s. 6d. various refunds.

The Minister pointed to an item among the disbursements of the Local Government Department—refund of part rates levied by Volunteers in Sligo, £750—and explained that the reason for the refund was that during a difficult period of the trouble it was almost impossible to collect money in country districts. Volunteers collected rates that were outstanding, and for that charged a sum of £1,000. The Department disallowed that charge, and it was eventually arranged that the Department should contribute £750 and the Volunteers the remaining £250. No information has come to him to show that that £250 had been paid.

Mr. O Maille seconded the adoption of the report.

Mr. de Roiste expressed the view that they should also have before them the accounts of the Provisional Government so as to show the financial state of the country.

The Minister of Finance explained that the accounts of the Provisional Government could not be audited, as the Government was not yet six months in operation.

The report was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Cosgrave proposed a motion that Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty, Bishop of Killaloe; General Richard Mulcahy, and Dr. Richard Hayes be appointed as trustees of the funds of Dail Eireann.

Mr. E. J. Duggan seconded the motion.

Mr. Gavan Duffy said that he thought that it would be desirable that the House should know why Mr. Stephen O'Mara, who had been in America, was not re-elected.

Mr. Cosgrave said that his information was that the funds in America were in the name of Mr. Stephen O'Mara—that was, in the name of a single trustee. It could be quite understood what difficulties there were during the term of office of the late Minister of Finance in placing large sums of money such as these, and the difficulties in a foreign country could be appreciated. There might have been a perfectly valid reason for having the funds in the name of a single individual.

SAFEGUARDS.

He understood that they were at one time in the name of Mr. James O'Mara and at another in the name of Mr. de Valera. These funds were in the possession of the late Dail, and the present Dail taking its assets also came into possession of its liabilities. It was the intention of the Ministry to take every step to safeguard and preserve these funds for the present Dail, and action had already been initiated in America with a view to safeguarding those funds. He believed that a stay had been put on any person placing hands on them in America.

The funds amounted approximately to half a million, which was tied up, some of it locked up, he believed, in special boxes. Some of their staff in America had not been satisfactory, and very little information had come over; but, so far as the Ministry had been able, they had taken every possible step to safeguard the money.

The term of office of the trustees would be twelve months, and there duties would be somewhat different from those of the late trustees. It was their intention to wind up that money from the 30th June, and to make the Provisional Government liable for whatever expenses and disbursements there might have been from the 30th June, and that all these moneys would be put into a fund which would have to be supplemented to clear off the liabilities.

The motion was adopted.

PROCEDURE.

Mr. Figgis moved:—

"That a Committee on Procedure be at once appointed, such committee to be representative of all parties of this Dail; that the Committee on Procedure, when so appointed, shall be charged with the task of arranging the business of this Dail, and of drawing up the orders of the day, always in consultation with the chairman; that all bills, notices of motion, and other business proposed to be brought before the Dail, be referred to the Committee on Procedure for this purpose, except matters of urgent public importance, for the discussion of which the Dail might grant special leave; that provision be made in the Standing Orders for such a Committee on Procedure, and that the terms of this motion be the terms of reference for the Committee until such time as the permanent Standing Orders shall be adopted by this Dail."

In reply to Mr. Figgis, the Speaker made some remarks that were inaudible to the Press, and Mr. Thomas Johnson suggested that if it suited the general wishes of the House Mr. Figgis should have the honour of being the first to have a bill in his name on the records.

Mr. E. Blythe said that in connection with bills there was the question of the powers that the House had for legislating, and he did not think it advisable to spend time on the bills suggested at that stage. Undoubtedly bills dealing with electoral law would have to be introduced immediately the Constitution went through.

It was the intention of the Government at present to introduce resolutions that would cover all the ground that would be covered in the electoral laws. These would enable the registration officers and others concerned to go on with the work of compiling a register. This would take, at least, six months from the end of the qualifying period. He did not know whether they could have the resolutions ready for Thursday or not, but the resolutions would embody the principle of adult suffrage. That register should be ready by the end of next March. Immediately the Constitution went through, the work of making a detailed electoral law would begin.

Mr. Thomas Johnson said that that raised the question of the powers appertaining to that House. There had been hints, some of them semi-official, of the limitation of the powers of the House, and he thought that it would be well now to know what powers they really did possess.

STANDING ORDERS.

The Minister for Local Government said that the Government wanted to know what progress had been made by the Committee on Standing Orders, and when their report might be expected.

The Speaker said that the Committee had completed 35 out of 78 Clauses, and they could not guarantee at what date the work would be completed, but the Committee might present an interim report on Friday.

The Minister for Local Government said that the Government's opinion was that the report should be forthcoming, because they wanted to get on with the work, and that could only be done when they had the Standing Orders. The Government was, therefore, prepared to let the House adjourn until such day as the Standing Orders were forthcoming. He thought that would expedite matters.

The Speaker said that the Committee could

THE RECAPTURE OF KENMARE.

SURPRISE ATTACK BY IRREGULARS.

BRIGADIER KILLED.

Reports from the South last night told of the recapture of the town of Kenmare by irregulars on Saturday last after a spirited defence by the small garrison. It is also reported that Ballina, County Mayo, has been retaken.

ATTACKERS IN FORCE.

COMMANDING OFFICER AND BROTHER SHOT.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LIMERICK, Wednesday.

The irregulars succeeded in capturing another isolated position on Saturday last. At 8 p.m. an attack was made on the town of Kenmare, which is held by fifty national troops, under the commend of Brigadier O'Connor. The troops had retired after an operation, and were resting. Twenty irregulars rushed the house of Brigadier O'Connor and shot him dead. His brother, a civilian, was also shot on the same night. The remainder of the irregulars—about 400 in number—set about attacking the posts of the National Army, chief of which was the National Bank. They occupied a house, and operated from the house until they were near enough to bomb the building, while a covering fire was kept up by machine guns and rifles. A good defence was put up, but the attackers were too numerous, and succeeded in reaching one post after another, until, with a Lewis gun out of action, four men killed and nine wounded, all the remainder, except twelve men who escaped with their arms, were forced to surrender at 2 o'clock. With them were taken their rifles and equipment, and the captured men were marched about ten miles over the hills of Kilgarven, where they were allowed to go free, and have now returned to their unit.

Yesterday a column coming from Buttevant to Charleville was ambushed at the railway bridge between the two towns, and one man received two wounds from machine gun burst. The national troops drove off their attackers, but were unable to overtake them.

Search operations at Newtown, near Charleville, have resulted in the capture of nine irregulars, with some arms and ammunition.

A GALLANT DEFENCE.

ALL POSTS OVERPOWERED.

Our Cork Correspondent, describing the fall of Kenmare, states that the irregulars mustered for the attack to a strength of some hundreds, and came from Ballyvurney and the Cork-Kerry border by lorries and motors. They were well equipped and carried some machine guns.

The irregulars entered the town at 7 a.m., and delivered their attack from all sides, occupying the houses in Henry street, which they barricaded with household furniture and effects. The national forces, though largely out-numbered, maintained a gallant defence until 2 p.m., when they had to yield. A number of rifles, with revolvers, machine guns, and a quantity of ammunition were captured. The prisoners were marched over mountainy country into Kilgarvan, where they were set free. Their captors could no longer keep them, having little food even for themselves. Fifteen of them arrived at Killarney on Sunday night, when the story that they had to tell created some consternation.

The main position of the troops was the premises of the bank and the Carnegie Library. They had also one or two small outposts in the town. The irregulars made the bank premises the chief object of their assault, and a fierce battle followed.

The national defence was gallant, but they were handicapped by the jamming of the second machine gun in the bank. They held on, however, determinedly, and for hours the residents of the town were in a state of great anxiety. They had to lie flat on the ground floors, crouched up to the walls, while bullets rained on the fronts of their houses. Fortunately there were no civilian casualties.

The first break in the defence was in the successful rushing of outposts by the irregulars, leaving them to concentrate on the bank premises. The nationals were in charge of Brigadier O'Connor, a native of Kenmare. He was at home when the attack opened, and was unable to join his troops. He, with his brother, was shot in his own house. The irregulars were under the command of Commandant Rice, who is also a native of Kenmare, and belongs to the No. 2 Kerry Brigade. Great alarm prevails in the town.

A piquant incident in connection with the fall of the town is that a "food ship" arrived there on Friday. Local labour refused to unload it without getting an increase in the ordinary remuneration. The result was that it was lying there on the Saturday, and when the irregulars had established their position the first thing they did was to commandeer labour to unload the vessel.

BALLINA FALLS.

Ballina, our local Correspondent writes, has been recaptured by the irregulars, who swooped down several hundred strong on the town on Tuesday morning, and disarmed the local garrison, and made them prisoners. The town is cut off both by rail and telegraph, and, as there is no possibility of the news reaching Dublin from that centre, I am booking the information as it has reached Claremorris by courier.

It is stated that several buildings in the town have been burned, including one of the banks. The garrison fought stubbornly, and, it is stated, sustained casualties. Big forces of national troops from all parts of Mayo are concentrating by road on Ballina.

On Friday night a further attack was made on Claremorris, rifles, revolvers, and bombs being used, evidently with the intention of drawing the garrison out or shooting the sentries. Houses are bullet-marked. On Saturday there was further firing.

BIG CAPTURES IN MEATH.

The following official report was issued from Army Headquarters yesterday evening:—

"Troops belonging to the 1st Eastern Division, operating around Wilkinstown, Co. Meath, captured 10 irregulars, one of whom was wounded, together with one Hotchkiss machine gun, 19 magazines for same, 11lbs. explosives, with two coils of wire, one detonator, six Service rifles, one Mauser rifle, 5,000 rounds of .303 ammunition.

"A column of troops captured 8 irregulars in the Athboy district.

"In the Louth area the troops captured 4 Service rifles, 150 rounds of ammunition, 4 grenades, 3lbs. explosives, three coils of cable with detonators, and three bicycles.

"Five irregulars entered Ravensdale P.O. on Monday and smashed the telephone switchboard."

SUMMER-TIME.

DATE EXTENDED TO OCTOBER 8.

Owing to the urgent representations of railway companies and other bodies, that the notice given on the 8th inst. regarding the termination of Summer Time on Sunday next is too short to permit them to alter their arrangements, the Irish Provisional Government has agreed to withdraw its former notice, and has decided that this year Summer Time will end at 2 o'clock, Greenwich time, on the morning of Sunday, 8th October. This will bring the time in Ireland in conformity with that of England.

The Northern Home Office announced officially yesterday evening that Summer Time will come to an end in Northern Ireland on 8th October, in accordance with a notification published on 25th March last.

UNIFORMS STOLEN.

Shortly after five o'clock yesterday evening armed men raided the premises of the Dublin Bespoke Clothing Company, 22 Wellington quay, Dublin, and took away a number of national Army uniforms.

"BAR-TENDER ASSAULTED."

A paragraph under the above heading, which appeared in our issue of Tuesday, stated erroneously that Mr. James St. Leger, of 19 Upper Rutland street, Dublin, was charged in the Police Court with assaulting a bar-tender, and was bound to the peace. The fact is that Mr. St. Leger was the person who was assaulted by the bar-tender, and the latter was bound to the peace.

We much regret the error, and apologise to Mr. St. Leger for the annoyance which the publication of the paragraph has caused him.

In the decade 1910-1920 the money value of the butter, cheese, and milk produced in Australia increased from £10,615,268 to £36,975,670.

NEAR EASTERN POLITICS.

OTHER ASPECTS OF TURKS' VICTORY.

STRAITS TO REMAIN FREE.

ALLIES' UNANIMOUS DETERMINATION.

No further developments are reported from the Anatolian battle area, but there is much concern in official circles in London and Paris as to the victorious Kemalists' attitude in the matter of the freedom of the Straits.

Communications have passed between the British and French Governments, from which it is gathered that both countries are agreed that the control of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus must remain in Allied hands.

In the Balkans, Turkey's victory is regarded as a menace to the security of small nations, and Serbia and Rumania have expressed a determination to assist Greece if the fighting extends into Europe.

ALLIES AND THE STRAITS.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS.

There has been no fresh development in the Near Eastern situation as far as the British Government is concerned, but it is expected that Ministers will be summoned to a Cabinet meeting to-morrow to discuss the matter. The Prime Minister will return from the country for this meeting.

"THE IRISH TIMES."

Subscribers whose papers are not now delivered by post are requested to inform the management of the "Irish Times" through the local Newsagent or News Correspondent in what agent's parcel they desire their copies to be enclosed. Local agents will greatly oblige the management by taking every means in their power to bring this intimation under the notice of subscribers.

Great Britain's chief concern is to see that the successes of the Kemalist troops are not allowed to prejudice either the rights of the Allies or the security of Christian minorities. Above all, the freedom of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus must be assured.

M. de Montille, the French Chargé d'Affaires, called at the Foreign Office on Tuesday, and intimated that the French Government was in agreement with the British Government on the subject of the freedom of the Straits, and that it was ready to discuss anything which might lead to a settlement, providing that the legitimate aspirations of the Turks were safeguarded.

QUAI D'ORSAY ATTITUDE.

Reuter's Agency learns from an authoritative French source that the object of the visit of M. de Montille to the Foreign Office was not to present a formal Note, which will, doubtless, be handed to Lord Hardinge, but to make more precise, in a verbal communication, the French attitude as regards the Turkish situation, and to clear up certain misinterpretations which have given rise to discussions in the Press.

The British Government was informed that France was in agreement with her on the subject of the Straits. Now that that principle has been settled, there must be a discussion as to details, so that the Allies may present a united front in approaching Turkey.

In the French view, the only way to have a settlement with Turkey is to recognise her legitimate aspirations. By this is meant that we cannot expect to make peace with Turkey exactly on the same lines as if that country had been beaten by the Greeks, and was not victorious. The new fact of the fresh Turkish successes must be taken into account.

The exact terms of the French reply to Great Britain, which will be handed to the Ambassador in Paris, are not yet available, but it may be taken for granted that in their main lines they will follow the communication already made verbally at Whitehall.

The Allied Commanders-in-Chief in Constantinople, in accord with the Allied High Commissioners, have decided that the Allied flags shall be placed at the boundaries of the neutral zones in the Dardanelles and in Constantinople to show Allied unity of action.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

Up to yesterday afternoon Mr. Lloyd George had made no definite arrangements to attend the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva, though he hopes to be able to do so. In the event of his doing so, it is not expected that he will break his journey in Paris for a conference with M. Poincaré, as has been suggested in some quarters.

Regarding M. Venizelos and his reported intention to visit London to-day to see Mr. Lloyd George to urge the importance of maintaining the Greek occupation of Thrace, neither of the Government departments concerned has any such information, and certainly no arrangement has been made for an interview, either at the Foreign Office or at Downing street.

A Paris telegram, received last night, says that M. Venizelos arrived in Paris on Tuesday night. He stated that he had no intention whatever of proceeding to London to-morrow.

FRENCH MILITARY VIEW.

Reuter's Agency understands that in French military quarters the military situation, so far as Asia Minor is concerned, is considered as settled, the Turks being in occupation. As regards Constantinople and Thrace, it is felt that there is no real military menace resulting from recent events. Mustapha Kemal realises quite well that any attempt on Constantinople would be vigorously opposed by the French, British, and other Allies alike.

Adrianople is a political, rather than a military, consideration, but here it is felt that the only military question involved is the line of Maritza. If this were adopted, it would make Adrianople Turkish. The French view is that the adoption of this line would solve the whole question, for it is known that the Turks are quite prepared to agree to Allied control of the Straits.

In this connection it is pointed out that a common frontier as between Turkey and Bulgaria already exists as a result of the Paris agreement of last March, and the arrangement suggested would only make the boundary a longer one.

While the fleet remains in the Dardanelles it will be impossible to effect a crossing into Europe.

MAHOMMEDAN ANXIETY.

THE FEELING IN INDIA.

OTTAWA, Tuesday.

Mr. Sastri, speaking at Montreal to-day, referred to this morning's news regarding the ferment caused in India by the Turkish successes. He explained that in 1918 the Mahommedans in India hesitated to enlist until assurances were given by the British authorities that when the war was over Turkey would be allowed to retain Asia Minor and Thrace.

When the Treaty of Sevres was concluded without this promise being fulfilled there was left in the hearts of the Indian Mahommedans a degree of soreness and exasperation which the English vocabulary is hardly sufficient to describe the feeling. Many of the population were ready to foreswear allegiance to the British Empire and sympathise openly with the Turks as against the Greeks.

He added—"The Mahommedans naturally, and to my mind quite pardonably, rejoice in these successes, and look upon them as a punishment inflicted upon the British Power for its attitude towards Turkey. The situation in India is such that the Empire cannot afford to disregard it."—(Reuter.)

FROM TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

CRISIS IN THE NEAR EAST.

THE WAY TO MEET IT.

"THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY SAYS:—

We are glad to think that the Government have at last realised the imperious necessity of meeting the grave crisis in the Near East in the only wise and practical way. Lord Curzon, since his return to the Foreign Office, appears to have grasped the realities of the situation, and to have made up his mind that nothing should be left undone to ensure the co-operation of France in dealing with them. In this endeavour he deserves every support. Peace in the Near East cannot be assured by any conceivable policy except the policy of harmonious action by France and England, which the London and Paris news seems to foreshadow.

That Berlin should be able to speculate with the least shadow of plausibility upon the possibility of a serious division between England and France over the situation created by the failure of King "Tino's" military adventure is a signal proof of the folly of the policy they have recently pursued in regard to reparations. There is no profit in cataloguing past mistakes in a moment of emergency; but it may safely be asserted that this policy, without bringing the least advantage to either, has frittered away the confidence that would have prevented the actual crisis altogether, or would have made its solution easy.

It is the first and clearest duty of English statesmen to do their uttermost to work with our great Ally of the war. The same duty is equally incumbent upon French statesmen. English opinion, we are convinced, would irrevocably condemn any Government, or any Minister, who neglected this duty. So, we are confident, would French opinion not less irrevocably condemn any French Government or Minister who should reject British overtures for concordant action.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN.

FREEDOM OF THE STRAITS.

Up till last evening the formal reply of the French Government to the British communication upon the crisis in the Near East had not been received at the Foreign Office, states The Times. It is expected to come through the Paris Embassy and to show whether the French Government are prepared to co-operate with the British Government in upholding the freedom of the Straits and in dealing with the question of Eastern Thrace.

We learn that the Cabinet will meet to-morrow in order to give further consideration to the situation. The purpose of the visit of the French Chargé d'Affaires, M. de Montille, to the Foreign Office on Tuesday evening was to define verbally the position of France in regard to the Turkish situation, especially in view of comments that have appeared in some British and Italian newspapers. We understand that M. de Montille stated that France is in agreement with Great Britain in upholding the freedom of the Straits, and is prepared to discuss any suggestions for a settlement, provided that the legitimate susceptibilities of the Turks be safeguarded. M. de Montille is believed not to have gone beyond this general indication of the French attitude.

In British official quarters it is hoped that the formal French reply will indicate readiness to co-operate actively with Great Britain in the Near East. Lord Curzon is understood to be particularly anxious to promote harmony in this respect with France, and to make it clear to the French Government that their co-operation will be welcomed by this country.

ELECTION PROBLEM.

TAXATION THE TEST.

The Times Parliamentary Correspondent, writing on the rumours of a possible autumn election, says:—In any consideration of the possibilities it has to be remembered that if the Government meets Parliament next spring for a session of normal length, the Parliament of 1918 will be brought near to death by the sheer lapse of time. A general election would, thereafter, have to be faced as a matter not of choice but of necessity. That is not a very fine way for a Ministry to go to the electorate.

But the circumstances would be wholly different if the Ministry had expectations of carrying proposals of importance in the final year of the Parliament's existence. If, therefore, it should appear from an early survey of the financial prospects of next year that there is likelihood of the Chancellor of the Exchequer being able to lay before the House of Commons a Budget based on large economies, making possible a substantial relief of taxation, all thoughts of an autumn election might be set aside. But if, on the contrary, it should appear that the prospect of such a remission of taxation is remote, it may be thought advisable to take the election long before the Budget is due.

2,000 YEARS OLD.

The Times Paris Correspondent writes:—A very interesting archæological discovery has been made during some excavations in an ancient Gallic-Roman cemetery at Martes de Veyre, including the unearthing of bodies buried eighteen centuries ago, and still in a wonderful state of preservation. The excavations, which have been in progress for some time under the direction of M. Andollert, Doyen of the Faculty of Letters at Clermont Ferrand, have already produced terra-cotta vases, coins, and other relics of the Roman occupation of the Auvergne. Now a dozen wooden coffins have been revealed. It is estimated that they are nearly two thousand years old.

JUMP IN THE POST OFFICE REVENUE.

For the six months ended September 2 the postal revenue showed an increase of £4,050,000 over the corresponding period of last year. The figures were:—April 1 to September 3, 1921, £18,500,000; April 1 to September 2, 1922, £22, 550, 000. This vast increase in revenue corresponds, says the Daily Mail, with the reduction in postage rates for inland letters and postcards which came into force on May 20.

THE WRITING ON THE WALL.

The Daily Express says:—Serbia is mobilising. Serbia mobilised once before, a little over eight years ago, and, just as it does to-day, the public read and passed light-heartedly to other matters. Fortunately, the situation in the Near East cannot be compared in gravity to that in August, 1914. It is, nevertheless, extremely grave. The situation calls for an immediate understanding between France and England, and for responsible statesmanship in all the Allied countries. The peoples know now what war means. Let them prevent it.

HEAVY FIRING IN DUBLIN.

For almost two hours after midnight this morning heavy firing was heard in Dublin over a wide area. The firing was loudest between 12.30 and 1 a.m., and it appeared as if several posts were being attacked. It was stated that the Telephone Exchange in Crown Alley was assailed for about twenty minutes, machine guns being used by the attackers, and it was thought that another attack was launched on the Four Courts Hotel, where national troops are stationed.

From the direction of the Rotunda loud reverberations came, and along the Quays, Sackville street, Westmoreland street, Brunswick street, Grafton street and Dame street armoured cars hurried, while rifles and revolvers spat out from various quarters, where, presumably, snipers were concealed.

A small lorry was noticed in a disabled condition outside Trinity College, and it was believed that it had been damaged in a collision.

Comparative quietness prevailed at 2 o'clock.

POSTAL WORKERS STILL ON STRIKE.

EFFORTS TO COPE WITH LETTER DELIVERIES.

STRIKERS REPLY TO BUSINESS MEN.

There was little change in the Post Office strike yesterday. There were rumours of negotiations with the object of arranging a settlement, but they could not be confirmed in any quarter.

Some improvement was shown yesterday, especially in the telephone department; while large numbers of people who went to the Rink sorting office were able to obtain letters. The central telegraph office in Amiens street opened its doors yesterday.

CROWDS AT THE RINK.

CENTRAL OFFICE OPENED.

As far as the general public were concerned, the postal situation yesterday showed but little change. Business concerns sent representatives to the Central Sorting Office at the Rink to collect correspondence, which had accumulated since the strike was inaugurated on Sunday. The people formed up in a queue outside the Rink as early as 10.30 in the morning, and were admitted to the office in twos and threes. As far as could be seen by those who attended, the staff was very limited. One member of the queue, speaking to an Irish Times representative at 4.50 p.m., said that he had been waiting his turn from shortly after noon. At that time there were nearly 100 people still awaiting admission to the Rink.

Strike pickets marched up and down all the while, some carrying banners drawing attention to the "cost of living" figures published by the Government. A large force of police was on duty in the vicinity.

A number of ex-Service men attended at College Green Post Office for the purpose of drawing their allowances, but, owing to the depleted staff in attendance, they had to wait in queues for a considerable time.

Some public business was transacted at the Central Telegraph Office, in Amiens street. The front door was open, and the building was held by a strong military guard, while a big force of police was on duty in the street. When the police arrived the Inspector had a conversation with members of the picket, and drew a cordon across the street at each end of the building. As a result the picket was divided in two, and crossed and recrossed the road, instead of pursuing its usual beat.

If there was some delay in dealing with telegrams, considerable promptness was shown in dealing with urgent telephone calls. As an example, mention may be made of the speed with which the St. Leger result was announced in the evening papers.

Asked as to whether any effort had been made to bring about a settlement, a member of the Postal Union Executive told an Irish Times representative that no overtures had been made to them. There might have been something done privately, but they had no knowledge of anything of the kind.

Regarding this matter, a Post Office representative declared that a settlement could only be effected by the strikers going back to their posts.

At the office of the Postal Union yesterday it was stated by Mr. Normile that the Union had scored its first victory by persisting in peaceful picketing, despite the Government ban. Information had reached the unions, he said, that one of the leading legal authorities in the country had advised the Government that their position as regarded peaceful picketing was untenable. Messages from country offices indicated, he added, that the stoppage was complete in all departments of the Post Office. A message from Cork stated—"Everybody out and spirit splendid." The Union's offer to the Postmaster-General of staffs for the payment of old age and other pensions had not, it was stated, so far been replied to. The same was the case in regard to humanitarian services. Counter-work in town sub-offices had not, it was stated, been interfered with, but, inasmuch as the postal service was not operating, the purchase of stamps and posting of letters might be regarded as simply a waste of time. It was denied that there had been any addition to the staff at the Rink or at the Telegraph or Telephone Offices. In the Rink a Union official stated that twelve men were endeavouring to deal with the work of 740 men, representing 650 regular men and 90 supervisors. Cross-Channel letters, this Union official stated, were simply conveyed to Kingstown, where they remained.

EMPLOYE'S ADVANTAGES.

A Government official, discussing the position with an Irish Times representative yesterday, stated that in the United States postal employés of corresponding grades with those on strike in Ireland get only fifteen days' leave per annum, including one Sunday. In this country after five years' service they obtain twenty-one days' leave, excluding Sundays. In the United States also, it was stated, postal officials are only allowed ten days' sick leave in one year, or thirty days in three years. In Ireland, on the contrary, an established officer can get one year in four sick leave or six months in twelve. In America they work 48 hours a week, exclusive of lunch hour, while in Ireland they work a week of 45 hours net.

In going on strike, said this representative of the Government, the postal officials claimed the rights of ordinary industrial workers without their disadvantages. Amongst these one of the first was with regard to permanent employment. The ordinary industrial worker had to demand a wage that would ensure him against sickness and unemployment.

Postal workers, on the other hand, had the advantage of free medical attendance, permanent employment, and pensions.

On this point, Mr. Booth, the Post Office witness, speaking at the recent Postal Commission, said, with regard to the comparisons which had been made between the outdoor class of postal workers and those in outside employment—trades, etc.—there was no comparison between the duties of postmen, which were simple and required little training, and those of a skilled artisan. Secondly, that any comparison which might be made between Post Office employés and those in outside trades cannot reasonably be made on the basis of weekly pay. The Post Office employé in his continuity of employment, his annual leave, his sick leave and his free medical attendance, his right to a pension, etc., is in a position which is much superior to that of the artisan or general worker. The latter is ordinarily without fixity of tenure, his employment is largely dependent upon the fluctuations of trade; his income, to be properly appraised, must be judged by his annual, not his weekly, earnings; his annual leave, when given, is less than that of the Post Office worker, and in rare cases will the outside worker be found to have the valuable sick leave and free medical attendance privileges possessed by the Post Office worker.

THE BONUS REDUCTION.

LIVING WAGE ARGUMENT.

The Post Office authorities have issued the following:—

It has come to the notice of the Postal authorities that several officials at present on strike were unaware of the Government's offer "to spread the bonus reduction in instalments over a period of three months, the precise amounts of the instalments to be settled by negotiation;" or of the definite offer "to carry out one half of the total reduction now, and one half on the 1st December." It is important that these offers, which were rejected by the Unions without taking a ballot of the staffs, should be thoroughly understood, as one of the principal objections urged to the cut, as at first proposed, was that it was too drastic. Under the offers the amount of the immediate cut could have been fixed by agreement.

It is frequently urged in the Press that the wages and bonus remaining after the operation of the full cut would not represent a living wage. The following figures regarding the principal class affected in Dublin are, therefore, of interest:—Of nearly 600 sorting clerks and telegraphists (male) in Dublin, over 250 would continue to draw over £5 a week, over 330 would draw more than £4 10s. a week, and over 400 would draw more than £4 a week, these figures being altogether exclusive of overtime, for which high additional rates are paid. In many cases the extra duty alone amounts to over £3 or £4 a week.

In a comparison of scales, furnished recently before the Post Office Commission, it was indicated that the maximum pay of railway clerks (male) in Group I. is £200 a year. The Post Office clerk (S.C. and T. (m) in Dublin at his maximum does better than this; for, even after the operation of the present cut, he will receive wages amounting to £270 a year, or £70 a year more than a first group railway clerk, and this exclusive of extra duty pay.

It is the case that, even after the imposition of the full cut, the Post Office classes concerned will be still in receipt of higher bonus than the corresponding classes in Great Britain and in the Six County area of Ulster. Yet no strike has been threatened in Belfast, or elsewhere, against the British authorities.

THE ESSENTIAL SERVICES.

THE GOVERNMENT'S VIEW.

Interviewed yesterday, and asked why the Post Office had not replied to the offer of the Postal Union to supply sufficient staff to maintain essential services, Mr. P. S. O'Hegarty, Secretary to the Post Office, said that the Government had decided that it could not recognise the right of civil servants to strike, and that the Post Office, therefore, could not hold any communication with those who had organised and carried out the strike. He said that, despite the positive assertions made by the Unions to the contrary, the Post Office was maintaining a service, and hoped to extend it. For instance, said he, we are re-opening College Green Post Office to-day for the payment of pensions.

He pointed out that the postal officials had not alone acted in defiance of the regulations of the civil service regarding strikes, but many of them had resorted to intimidation and threats of violence to prevent any other person performing the essential national work which they themselves refuse to perform. Their pickets in some cases have intimidated men who were coming on duty, in other cases have intimidated transport workers who were carrying mails, and in other cases have actually interfered to prevent by main force the tansport of mails. That is to say, their claim is that because they happen to be engaged in an essential national service, they are entitled to hold up the whole community unless it grants their demand for higher wages than the work warrants.

Asked with regard to the alleged breach of the Post Office of a promise, said to have been given, that there would be no reduction of wages until the final report of the Commission, he said that no such promise was ever made. He pointed out that a reduction in wages was actually made in March last, the ordinary reduction in the bonus consequent on the reduced cost of living, and that these reduced wages were paid until the Postal Commission's recommendations, which practically restored the bonus to its ante-March figure, were adopted by the Government, with back-pay as from the 1st March, and he added that when they were adopted the Unions were specifically informed that the increases were "temporary and provisional, and will operate only until the official cost of living figure has been produced by the Government."

"This," he added, "seems to me to place the point beyond dispute. The letter in which this stipulation was made was never questioned by the Unions, and anyone who examines the Report of the Commission will see that the condition laid down by the Government accords with the condition on which the Commission recommended the temporary increases."

FOOD PRICES.

WAGES COMPARISONS.

The attention of the Government has been called to a leaflet which is being distributed by the strikers setting out prices of certain commodities.

The suggestion made in the leaflet that the Government regards these figures as representative for the City of Dublin is false. The figures—which it may be observed constitute only a small proportion of the figures on which the cost of living figure is based—have been taken from the Report of the Cost of Living Committee, and are given there as representing the average prices for the whole country.

When it was decided to give a bonus to the Civil Service to meet the increase in the cost of living caused by the European War, it was clearly laid down, and accepted in an agreement with the staffs, that bonus would be based upon the increase in cost of living for wage-earning classes, and that this increase should be ascertained for the country as a whole.

Increase after increase of bonus was given to the Civil Service on this basis until September, 1921, when a large fall in bonus took place. This fall was accepted without demur, and without even the threat of a strike, and it must be emphasised that it was based upon a figure prepared by the British Board of Trade, which represented the average cost of living for the whole of Great Britain and Ireland.

When the next revision was due to take place, on the 1st March, 1922, the Unions objected on the ground that the figure was British, and not Irish. The Irish Government has now ascertained the Irish figure, and has directed payment of bonus on the basis of that figure. The Irish figure is higher than the British figure, and the bonus paid by the Irish Government is accordingly higher than the bonus paid by the British Government in Great Britain and the six North-Eastern counties.

As explained in previous statements, the basic wage is the same in Ireland as in Great Britain. The following table shows for the two main classes the basic scale of wages which is common to both countries, and the total wages, including bonus, which are being paid as from the 1st of September in Ireland as compared with Great Britain and the six North-Eastern counties:—

SORTING CLERKS AND TELEGRAPHISTS (MALE).

(1) Dublin.—Basic wages scale, 28s. (21 years) to 61s. a week. Total wages, including bonus—Ireland, 53s. 3d. (21 years) to 103s. 4d. a week; Great Britain, etc., 51s. 10d. (21 years) to 101s. a week.

(2) Blackrock, Bray, Cork, Dun Laoghaire, and Limerick.—Basic wages scale, 27s. (21 years) to 55s. a week. Total wages, including bonus—Ireland, 51s. 4d. (21 years) to 94s. 10d. a week; Great Britain, etc., 50s. (21 years) to 92s. 8d. a week.

(3) Other Provincial Towns.—Basic wages scale, 26s. (21 years) to 49s. a week. Total wages, including bonus—Ireland, 49s. 5d. (21 years) to 86s. 4d. a week; Great Britain, etc., 48s. 2d. (21 years) to 84s. 3d. a week.

POSTMEN.

(1) Dublin.—Basic wages scale, 24s. 6d. (21 years) to 40s. a week. Total wages, including bonus—Ireland, 46s. 7d. (21 years) to 73s. 7d. a week; Great Britain, etc., 45s. 4d. (21 years) to 71s. 9d. a week.

(2) Blackrock, Bray, Cork, Dun Laoghaire, and Limerick.—Basic wages scale, 22s. (21 years) to 37s. a week. Total wages, including bonus—Ireland, 41s. 10d. (21 years) to 69s. 4d. a week; Great Britain, etc., 40s. 9d. (21 years) to 67s. 7d. a week.

(3) Other Provincial Towns.—Basic wages scale, 21s. (21 years) to 34s. a week. Total wages, including bonus—Ireland, 39s. 11d. (21 years) to 64s. 8d. a week; Great Britain, etc., 38s. 11d. (21 years) to 62s. 11d. a week.

The above wages are for a working week of 48 hours. Overtime at rates ranging from rate and a quarter to double the ordinary rate is payable for hours worked in excess of 48.

The Irish wages shown above are, in the opinion of the Government, reasonable and adequate, and give due weight to Irish cost of living, and it is noteworthy that the wages paid by the Irish Government are higher than the wages paid to corresponding classes in Great Britain and the six North-Eastern counties, despite the fact that the Irish Post Office is run at a loss, while the British Post Office is run at a substantial profit.

It will also be noted that while the bonus is payable on an average cost of living figure for the whole country, the higher cost of living in Dublin is reflected in the higher basic wage payable there.

REPLY TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Joint Executives have issued the following reply to the statements made at Tuesday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce:—

The speeches are just what the worker who knows the Chamber of Commerce would expect. With the usual smoke-screen of impartiality the members profess not to enter into the merits of the dispute between the Postmaster-General and his employés, and then with characteristic "fair play" flop down on the side of the employer, who in this instance happens to be the Government.

One might expect that business men would realise that an intelligent body of workers—and the Chamber of Commerce was good enough to pay us compliments—do not decide to withdraw their labour except as a last resort. It is well known that in order to avoid a conflict in March last the Executive Committee strained the loyalty of the members when they agreed to temporarily forego the unions' claims and accept a reduction of wages on the understanding that a Postal Commission would be set up to inquire into the justice or otherwise of that reduction. The unions believed that the Government were acting in good faith, but evidently the unanimous findings of the Commission that the wages could not bear reduction was not anticipated. The increases recommended by the Commission in May are now withdrawn, and, in addition, 3-26ths of the bonus, although the cost of living has not decreased in the meantime. In other words, the findings of the Postal Commission set up by the Government have been deliberately pushed aside and faith broken with the unions. Do the gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce approve of this deliberate breach of faith on the part of the Government? Their promised support of the Government in this dispute implies that they do. Do they think it is a good headline to set for honest dealing between a large employer and his workers? Are they prepared to stand by the figures "produced" by the Government, and as the men engaged in commercial life will they inform us where food and rent can be had at the prices quoted?

All the pious platitudes about the attitude of Labour will not solve the economic difficulties of the worker who is forced to accept a reduced wage while the cost of living shows an upward tendency. The Chamber may ambition a reputation as a school of philosophy, but its interests are too one-sided to admit of its commanding the confidence of classes other than those for which it caters. One speaker mentioned patriotism—that much-abused word. The members of the Government thought it was patriotic for the Post Office staff to go on strike on behalf of the Mountjoy hunger-strikers and on the occasion of the Mountjoy executions, while the Chamber of Commerce then called us unpatriotic. Now when we withdraw our labour for ourselves and families both parties call us unpatriotic. But patriotism, like certain other things, can be tested. Might we respectfully suggest that, while in a patriotic mood, the Chamber might attack the "profiteer," and, having reduced the price of food and discovered a cost of living figure which bore some resemblance to the actual price of commodities, he may have less trouble in his endeavour to make a case against the worker.

Again, the Chamber might inform us whether it subscribes to the policy of the Postmaster-General when he proposes to reduce wages for no other reason than that a Government department has "produced" a cost of living figure. Before giving its answer, we think it would do well to study the undermentioned table in which we set out the Government's prices and the actual prices of certain items of expenditure, the former being the figures on which the Government's cost of living report is based:—

	Government Prices. s. d.	Actual Prices To-day (13/9/22).
Butter ...	1 6½ per lb.	2s. to 2s. 2d.
Eggs	1 5½ ,, doz.	2s. 8d. Prices still rising
Milk	0 4½ ,, quart	7d. (8d. from October.
Bacon ...	1 7 per lb.	2s. 4d.
Mutton ...	1 3½ ,,	1s. 8d. to 1s. 10d. per lb.
Beef	1 1 ,,	1s. 6d. per lb.
Cheese ...	1 4½ ,,	1s. 10d. to 2s. 8d. per lb.
Rent	5 2	19s. 2d. per week.

On these figures the Government have reduced the wages of the Post Office staffs and shelved the findings of their own Commission.

The Joint Executives of the Postal Unions on strike state that they have offered to the Postmaster-General to provide staffs for the payment of old age pensions and for the transmission of doctors', hospitals', and Fire Brigade messages. The Postmaster-General has not even acknowledged our offer. Postal workers, they say, have no responsibility for any suffering that may ensue from the Postmaster-General's attitude.

POSITION OF CONTROLLING OFFICERS.

The Post Office controlling officers are recruited from the classes of sorting clerks, telegraphists, and postmen, and the work which they perform is an extension of the work which the rank and file perform, and not different in character.

The demarcation which, in normal times, exists between their work and the work of the rank and file is solely for the purpose of the efficient carrying on of the public service, and does not give them any right to say that they will or will not perform certain work.

In an abnormal time like the present all such lines of demarcation are inoperative, and the Post Office expects that every Post Office servant will perform whatever work he is directed to perform. The authority as to what a controlling officer's work is is not the controlling officers' union, but the Postmaster-General, and the Postmaster-General's action, in recognising that the ordinary line of demarcation between controlling officers and rank and file must be modified as the public service required, is not alone legitimate, but is the only way in which he can act.

As a matter of fact, in times of extreme pressure it is a common practice of controlling officers to help in the ordinary work.

NO STRIKE IN STRABANE.

A Strabane message says:—Generally the postal officials are remaining loyal to the Free State, and have not gone on strike. Postal facilities are normal at Stranorlar and at Ballybofey, two towns in East Donegal. Other small sub-offices in the county are still working. In Letterkenny town the Post Office is being guarded by pickets.

THE POSTAL STRIKE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—By the courtesy of a friend I have been enabled to forward the following telegram to the Postmaster-General in Dublin to-day at the request of many citizens:—

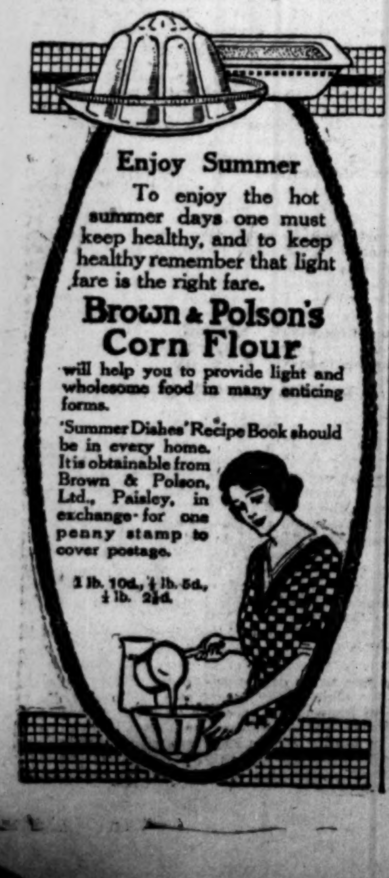

"Strike causes great inconvenience and incalculable loss to commercial community and other citizens here and in country. Allow me to urge strongly that you postpone enforcement of your wages reduction for, say, three months without prejudice, bearing in mind existing local conditions."

It seems to me to be incomprehensible why the Provisional Government permitted the present stoppage of all postal, telegraph, and telephonic communication at this time of great trouble and difficulty in the commercial and social life of Ireland. I am not thoroughly conversant with the details of the dispute with the civil servants, but I am sure that it will be conceded all around that the time is most inopportune to inflict any further trials or difficulties on the people. The postponement for, say, three months would give time, very likely, for an early and satisfactory settlement of the points at issue. If the matter were the other way about, and the Post Office officials sought and insisted on an advance of wages under present critical conditions, public condemnation would assuredly be loud and strong.

What a pity that the new Irish Parliament on Saturday should have repeated the error, made before, of selecting a political Cabinet all of one party. I believe, and have more than once expressed an opinion, that, owing to the peculiar circumstances of our poor country at present, the Cabinet should be composed of representatives of all interests. Commerce, Capital, and Labour should each have some representation. The experience of trained minds, of those accustomed to dealing with large public and business problems, would be invaluable, and would seem to be a necessity for our country in the present day. To Capital and Labour Ireland must look for a prosperous future, and in the present enlightened and democratic time their interests must not be forgotten. Minorities have their rights, and promises have been made and written that in our new Ireland these would be fully recognised. When that time arrives a Government of real strength can be looked forward to, which may be relied upon to work out to the best possible interest of our native land.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN HARLEY SCOTT, Knt.,
High Sheriff of Cork.

GERMAN DEBTS.

BRITISH BANKER'S VIEW.

The effects of the war on credit, currency and finance generally were discussed by the economists of the British Association yesterday.

An important report was presented by a Committee, presided over by Professor W. R. Scott and including well known bankers. It declared that no unbiassed observer imagined that the enormous sums imposed by the Peace Treaty could ever be paid by Germany. Up to the present, it was added, it was uncertain if the actual money payments made exceeded the cost of the Armies of Occupation. From this view, Sir Drummond Fraser, the banker, dissented. He held that Germany could pay if a genuine business proposition was placed before her, drafted by business men and not politicians.

Discussing the National Debt, the report said that the funds required to reduce the floating and foreign debt must come either from new savings or from the Budget. In view of the present period of depression, it seemed necessary to restrict this year's contribution, but had there been adequate Government economy there would have been a surplus for a respectable reduction of debt. A general arrangement for reducing military budgets to a "police level" was the chief need of Europe.

The Committee thought that the policy of the Bank of France in aiming at the restoration of the franc to its gold parity was "unwise and impossible." A great deal depended on the policy of the United States of America Federal Reserve Board, but it might be that before long the level of gold prices would rise to a greater extent than the rise in sterling prices, and so suffice to bring the £ back to its old gold parity, but the date of the dollar exchange reaching par was something to gamble in, not something on which to express a reasoned opinion.

ARMAMENTS AND BUDGETS.

As to the disarmament question, the Committee remarked that excessive and competitive armaments caused more political insecurity than they cured, and also made it impossible to balance budgets and stabilise currencies without public credit. A general arrangement for reducing military budgets to a police level was, perhaps, the chief need of Europe, but the Committee were not sure whether armies should be proportioned to population, or army costs to tax revenues. The consequences of making a fetish of nationality at the Peace Conference had resulted in a good deal of political instability, and in several cases forces largely in excess of the necessary minimum were maintained.

Reduction should not be proportionate in the sense of a reduction of present forces by an equal proportion, for that would put a premium on the action of those countries who had been most extravagant. They would only lose men that they could not maintain, whereas another country, with its forces already brought to a minimum, might be driven below the margin of safety. Probably several countries would be driven by financial exigencies to apply the pruning knife, and that was a possible argument against an immediate cancellation of war debts and obligations.

AMBUSHES IN DUBLIN.

SEVEN CASUALTIES.

At ten minutes to six o'clock yesterday evening, national troops proceeding in three lorries along St. Stephen's Green West, towards Harcourt street, were attacked when passing the Turkish baths, two or three bombs, it is stated, having been hurled at the lorries, and revolver fire opened on the soldiers by a band of men inside St. Stephen's Green park. The soldiers returned the fire, and, pursuing their assailants through the park, arrested several of them.

In the course of the firing two men and a woman were injured. The injured are:—

Michael Curtis, aged 22 years, of 3 Pembroke place, Lower Pembroke street, clerk, slight bullet wound on the back of the neck.

Patrick Monks, aged 55 years, of 1 Malpas terrace, New street, moulder, injuries to the hips and lower part of spine caused by bomb splinters

Mary O'Brien, aged 20 years, of 10 Morehampton road, bullet wound on left arm.

The attack apparently was of a very determined nature, and it would seem that between 15 and 20 men, armed with revolvers, waited behind the railings of the park for the approach of the lorries as they emerged from Grafton street. Grafton street was thronged, and the fierce outburst of firing, mingled with the heavy detonations, caused the greatest alarm. People fled for shelter into the nearest side streets and shops, and for about fifteen minutes no one would venture into the west side of St. Stephen's Green.

A man who was passing along St. Stephen's Green as the lorries went by stated that the first bomb was thrown by a young fellow who was standing near the Turkish baths, and then there was an outburst of revolver and rifle fire. He saw men carrying revolvers in the park, and he and others who were on the street ran for shelter.

It is stated that the troops were also fired on from the roofs of houses in the locality by snipers, who appeared to be numerous and who kept shooting for several minutes. The firing could be heard distinctly in Westmoreland street.

Another account is to the effect that two bombs were thrown at the lorries near the College of Surgeons, and that a third bomb was thrown from inside the railings of St. Stephen's Green. The lorries were brought to a standstill, the soldiers dismounted and returned the fire of the attackers, fifteen or twenty of whom were firing from the park. The troops ran into the park and gave chase, following some young men into Dawson street and others into Lower Leeson street.

Soon troops were on all sides of the Green, and a party of soldiers in a Ford car stopped near St. Vincent's Hospital and fired some shots towards Leeson street. Several arrests were made.

An eye-witness said that he was standing at St. Stephen's Green, near Harcourt street, when he heard a loud explosion. He believed that it was a bomb explosion. At the same time civilians who were behind the railings fired at the troops with revolvers. The troops jumped out of the lorries, which were stopped, and returned the fire, and, while some of them rushed inside the railings, others attempted to cut off the retreat of the attackers. He saw the troops taking seven or eight prisoners away in their lorries.

Patrick Monks was taken to Mercer's Hospital suffering from injuries to both hips and the lower part of the spine, and was detained for treatment. He stated that he was cycling along St. Stephen's Green West towards Harcourt street, and when passing Glover's alley he heard an explosion and was hit by something. A lorry with soldiers was going in the same direction when he was wounded. He did not see anyone throwing the bomb.

Michael Curtis and Mary O'Brien were taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, but their wounds were of a slight character, and they were discharged after their injuries were medically treated.

The district was extensively patrolled after the attack. Armoured lorries made their appearance, and soldiers stationed in Great Brunswick street proceeded on foot towards Grafton street while the firing was in progress.

The lorries afterwards proceeded on their way. Many people could be seen subsequently examining bullet marks on the railings of St. Stephen's Green and on the trees along the promenade.

The following official report of the attack was issued by Army Headquarters last night:—

"About 5 p.m. troops passing along St. Stephen's Green were ambushed near York street. Fire was opened on them from roofs, and two bombs were thrown from a laneway near the College of Surgeons. The troops, none of whom was injured, returned the fire and made a search of the locality. One arrest was made."

BOMB THROWN ON EDEN QUAY.

National troops were ambushed while driving in a lorry along Eden quay at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two of the soldiers were slightly injured and two civilians were wounded. They were brought to hospital.

It appears that the soldiers were driving towards O'Connell Bridge when a civilian, rushing out from Marlborough street, threw a bomb, which exploded with a deafening report in the middle of the road.

Alighting from the car, the soldiers gave chase. The attacker, however, managed to escape.

Christopher Wallace (38), 27 Fitzwilliam Square, sustained shrapnel wounds in the right and left leg and face. He was removed to Jervis street Hospital. John Williams, 3 Castle street, was removed to Mercer's Hospital, suffering from shrapnel wounds in the shoulder, left hand, and scalp.

The car was slightly damaged by bomb splinters.

The following official report was issued from Army Headquarters yesterday evening:—

"Troops passing along Eden Quay this afternoon were bombed from Marlborough street corner. Two of the troops were slightly wounded. Some civilians were also wounded."

FIRING IN BELFAST.

YOUTH SHOT DEAD.

Last night three revolver shots were fired in Little George's street, Belfast. John Walker, aged 15, of Molyneux street, who was standing at the corner of the street, was shot in the head, and died almost immediately.

MAN SHOT DEAD.

ATTEMPT TO EVADE ARREST.

An inquest was held at the Adelaide Hospital, Dublin, yesterday evening by Dr. Louis A. Byrne, City Coroner, on the body of Sean McEvoy (21), of 2 Ashbrooke terrace, Leeson Park, a medical student, who was brought to the institution on Tuesday evening shortly after 5 p.m. suffering from a gunshot wound and died about 20 minutes later.

Mr. Valentine E. Kirwan appeared for Mr. W. J. McEvoy, father of the deceased youth.

Mr. Michael Comyn, K.C., and Mr. Black (instructed by Mr. O h-Uadhaigh, of Little, Doyle, and Wood) appeared for the Republican Party.

Mr. Michael Corrigan, Chief State Solicitor, was in attendance.

Miss Cathleen McEvoy, sister of the deceased man, gave evidence of identification.

A man named James Geoghegan, of 3 Peter street, stated that at about 5 p.m. on Tuesday he heard a number of shots, and on looking towards Bride street he saw a number of Free State troops running in his direction. The troops called on men to halt; they did not do so, and shots were fired. The men then halted and were searched by the Free State troops, who took a revolver from one of them. The troops then took the men towards Bride street, and some confusion happened down there. Five or ten minutes later the witness again saw two men running towards him from Bride street, and the troops were firing and shouting to them to halt. One of the men fell on the footpath, and the witness went to his assistance, but was told at the point of the revolver "to drop him."

In reply to a juror, the witness said that it was from the deceased man that the soldiers took the revolver on searching him.

Dr. Bewley, house surgeon at the hospital, stated that when carried into the hospital McEvoy was in a dying condition and expired 20 minutes later.

To Mr. Comyn, K.C.—The entrance wound of the fatal shot was in the back.

Albert Edward Beakhurst, 53 Aungier street, stated that, hearing shots when in his house on Tuesday evening, he rushed out and saw Free State soldiers in the street. He saw two men come out of a hallway and open fire on the troops. The men then ran up towards Aungier street, and shots were fired at them, and the deceased man suddenly fell. Another man, who was employed at Jacob's, was also wounded.

To Mr. Comyn—There was further shooting after McEvoy fell, and in this shooting the second man was wounded.

Mrs. Anne Kavanagh, examined by Mr. Comyn, K.C., stated that she was in Bishop street when she saw Free State troops with two prisoners. The troops were treating the prisoners very cruelly—they beat them with the butts of their rifles while the prisoners had their hands up. She thought that after beating them the deceased man was let away, and that after he got away the troops fired on him.

To Mr. Corrigan—When she first saw them the deceased man and another man were running, and the troops were also running. She heard no shout of "Halt," and there was no halt whatever.

Dr. Bewley, recalled by Mr. Kirwan, stated that he only noticed an abrasion on the body when making an autopsy that day. There were other marks of bruises, one on the right buttock and one on the left side. They were not bruises; they were like a bit of skin scraped off by the fall.

Mr. Kirwan, addressing the jury, said that, while the father of the deceased boy was greatly grieved by his death, he had instructed him (Mr. Kirwan) to state with reference to the Army that he realised the difficulties they had to contend with at the present time. He wished to make it clearly understood that he blamed the Army in no way for the death of his boy—he felt that the soldiers concerned were only acting in the discharge of their duty. The father wished also to thank the hospital authorities for what they had done on his boy's behalf.

Mr. Comyn, K.C., said that he had come there without any special information as to the circumstances under which the deceased man met his death; but Mrs. Kavanagh had come forward, impelled by a sense of duty which they hoped would be an example to all members of the community.

The jury, after a brief consultation, found that the deceased man died from shock and hemorrhage caused by a bullet fired by a Free State soldier in the discharge of his duty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE COST OF LIVING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As a comment on "Watcher's" letter directing attention to the artificially high prices ruling in Dublin, may I point out that many Irish manufacturers are particularly hard hit by the tendency which prevails of seeking higher profits on Irish products than are expected in the case of imported goods? Last week we had a complaint from an important Irish manufacturing firm that their goods are being sold in Dublin at 120 per cent. over the price which they receive for them, with the inevitable result that competing imported goods, retailed at a profit of 33⅓ per cent. or 50 per cent. over prime cost, are naturally purchased by the consumer instead. This is by no means an isolated instance.

It is difficult to understand why Irish goods should be discriminated against in this way; but any general inquiry into the question of high prices should include a particular quest as to the reasons why Irish goods, in at least many instances, are sold at a higher rate of profit than imported goods of the same class. In justice to the producer and the consumer such a line of inquiry is very desirable.—Yours, etc.,

SUMMER-TIME.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I am very sorry to see that the Government has decided to terminate summer-time on Sunday, the 17th inst., three weeks earlier than in Great Britain. I have no idea as to the cause for this decision, but, like everyone to whom I have spoken on the subject to-day, I greatly regret it. As well as depriving business people of an hour's daylight after working hours, the change in present conditions adds an hour's anxiety to one's day, another hour's opportunity for evil-doers, raiders, and housebreakers.

I write as one who has already suffered the depredations of armed men, and I would appeal to the Government to extend summer-time till the 8th October, when it will also cease elsewhere. I am certain that the extension would meet with the unqualified approval of all law-abiding citizens at a time when the Government can do so little to protect individual life and property. I trust that our Parliamentary representatives will use their influence to bring about the respite earnestly desired on all hands.—Yours, etc.,

TAKEN FROM HIS HOME.

TIPPERARY MAN SHOT DEAD.

On Saturday night Thomas Brennan, 45, employed as a gardener by Mr. Robert Sanders, Ballinacourtie, Glen of Aherlow, was taken from his home near the village of Lisvernane, Co. Tipperary, by armed men. On Sunday morning his dead body was found on the roadside a short distance away. He had been shot through the head and body, and a label was attached with the words, "Convicted Spy."

FIGHT FOR A BARRACK.

AN ATTACKER KILLED.

A ruse to capture the barrack which is occupied by national troops at Ballymote having failed, a determined attack was made to compel the garrison to surrender in the early hours of Wednesday morning.

The irregulars, who numbered more than 100, arrived during the night by motor cars and bicycles, and they took up positions at all the approaches to the place. At about 3 a.m. the two men on picket duty at the Loftus Memorial Hall were pounced on by half a dozen men and disarmed. They were taken prisoners, but were subsequently released a couple of miles outside the town.

After the picket had been captured seven or eight men walked leisurely up the street towards the barrack. When they were halted by the sentry, they replied, "Friends; it is all right." One man advanced, but when he lowered his hands to open the gate leading through the entanglements he was ordered back. When he turned away fire was opened on the sentries by his companions, to which they replied. One of the attackers was seen to fall, and in the morning a large pool of blood was found at the spot. The firing continued for over an hour. Cars going to Tobercurry fair were seized by retreating irregulars, who were carrying back a dead man.

BANK OF IRELAND LADY CLERKS.
Candidates should note that at the last Examination for vacancies on the permanent staff, 7 of the 10 appointments, including First Place (Miss D. Mullin), were gained by pupils of ROSSE COLLEGE, Stephen's Green, Dublin. —(Advt.)

It has been officially stated in the Legislative Assembly that the value of the Imperial Government buildings in Simla, including the Viceregal estate, was 205 lakhs of rupees (£1,366,666).

THE SIX COUNTIES.

only meet for two hours every day from 11 to 1 o'clock.

The Minister for Local Government suggested that the House should adjourn until 3 o'clock next Monday, unless the Labour Party pressed for a discussion on certain questions that had been mentioned.

Mr. O'Shannon (Labour) said that the discussion of the question of the civil policing of the country was important and urgent, but what was more important and immediate was the question of the interference with the postal workers' pickets.

The Speaker said that that might be done on the motion for the adjournment.

Mr. Gavan Duffy and Alderman A. Byrne both pointed out that they had put questions on matters which it might be too late to deal with next Monday.

THE SIX COUNTIES.

STATEMENT OF POLICY WANTED

Mr. Sean Milroy said that he would move that the House adjourn until 3 o'clock on Thursday, as he wished to deal with a matter of immediate importance in relation to the question of Ulster. He did not wish to initiate a debate at that moment, but did wish to suggest that it was desirable. The House would welcome some statement from the Government as to their attitude and policy in regard to the Belfast Parliament. They wanted to know where they stood in regard to Ulster. He had some responsibility in this matter, because he happened to be one of two remaining members of that House who, in addition to being elected in the area known as the twenty-six counties, had also been elected to represent an area which was at present under the jurisdiction of the Northern Parliament.

That constituency—the Counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh—appeared, according to the latest information, to be very seriously affected—he might almost say perilously affected—by recent legislation in the Northern Parliament. He supposed that everyone there knew that the Northern Parliament had quite recently passed through all its stages a bill for the abolition of proportional representation in regard to local government affairs in the six counties. He had seen, with some degree of alarm, in that morning's Press that the British Monarch had given his assent to that Act.

CAUSE OF ALARM.

If that were true, it was an immediate and grave cause of alarm, not only to the position in Tyrone, but to the whole general position of the six counties in respect to the situation which would arise when the Boundary Commission, which had been provided for in the Treaty, began to operate. The provisions of the Treaty in regard to Ulster were not such as would stabilise the present separation of the six counties from the rest of Ireland, but were such, if equitably administered, as would in a comparatively brief period bring about a renewal of good relations between the two areas of the country.

But this latest development was one which they could not help regarding as giving grounds for apprehension whether it might not have some seriously adverse effect on the operation of those provisions, and produce effects vitally and substantially different to what was expected when these provisions of the Treaty were first put forward.

Having a responsibility, in some degree, as representative of the people of Tyrone and Fermanagh, he wanted to ascertain how matters stood. While he did not wish to precipitate a discussion which might be inopportune and premature from the point of view of their Government, and he had no intention or desire to embarrass them, he wanted to know if there was any Government department dealing with this question, and, if so, which department.

He also wanted to know what the policy was which the Minister for Foreign Affairs was going to develope in regard to the problem of bringing once more into being harmonious relations between Ulster and the rest of Ireland. It was a question that had an important bearing upon the national and economic stability of Ireland.

LABOUR VIEW.

Mr. O'Shannon (Labour) seconded the motion. The question of the relations between the twenty-six counties and the six counties of Ulster was a most important one, and should be seriously considered.

With regard to the postal strike, he mentioned that the Dublin Metropolitan Police had been instructed to prevent picketing, and that they should use sufficient force to have their directions complied with. He recalled that a member of the House had denied the postal officials the right to strike. That member had himself exercised the right to strike, which he now denied to others.

A policeman named Hogan had been dismissed for disobedience to the orders of his superior officer. That policeman held that the order to interfere with pickets was an illegal one, and he refused to obey it. Was this constable going to be reinstated, or was he to be compensated for the action he had taken—the refusal to obey an illegal order? This was an attack upon the whole principle of trades unionism. He understood that the Postmaster-General was offering the strikers promotion if they returned to duty and "black-legged" on their fellows.

The Postmaster-General denied that he had done anything of the kind.

Mr. O'Shannon—Will he deny that either he or any responsible officer in his department has asked any one to return on promise of promotion?

The Postmaster-General—It is up to the deputy who makes the statement to give the proof.

Mr. O'Shannon—A charge of sabotage was made the other day by the Minister for Home Affairs against the strikers, and the strikers denied that they committed any damage to the instruments or the wires.

INSTRUMENT, NOT EDIFICE.

Mr. McGoldrick (Donegal) supported Mr. Milroy's references to the Ulster question, and pointed out that they accepted the Treaty as an instrument, and not as an edifice. The first problem before that assembly was the unification of the nation. It had to be accomplished peaceably, and not on any other lines. He suggested the appointment of a Special Committee to deal with the question, and to put forward recommendations with a view to securing unification of the country.

The Minister for Home Affairs said that he regretted to say that in the postal strike there had been infringements of the rights of the individual, but they had not been on the part of the Government. On the previous day the homes of two employés who had returned to work were picketed and threats made to stop food supplies. On Monday night shots were fired into the Amiens street office. As regards the acts of sabotage, which he had previously mentioned, his information was that on Sunday at 6 p.m. the battery leads were damaged, and almost all telegraph lines were put out of order. The lines connecting Amiens street with the offices of the Freeman's Journal and the Independent were cut. Messengers taking letters from the Rink to their employers had been "held up" and the correspondence destroyed. That happened in the case of the Ministry of Insurance. Three motor cars on Post Office business were put out of action, and all cars endeavouring to take mails were driven back. At Westland row the mails were pulled out of the cars. Several cases of intimidation had occurred in the country.

The Government could not tolerate these infringements. Under cover of the special difficulties of the Government it was attempted to establish a principle which was not recognised in any modern civilised State. Failure on the part of his department to define the Government position would mean that every future Government in this country would have its being by the grace of Deputy Shannon.

Deputy Shannon—Hear, hear.

The Minister for Home Affairs declared that that was a position which he regarded it as part of his duties to the people to prevent. The present strike was not a trades dispute, and the provisions of the Trades Disputes Act would not be applied in the case. If Mr. Johnson cared to challenge that in another place they could have a decision on the point. As to the orders which the police had in this matter, they were told that it was part of their duty to carry them out. There was no instruction to arrest, but they were told that picketing was not allowed. The Government intended to maintain that attitude.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

A REPLY TO CRITICS.

Mr. J. J. Walsh, Postmaster-General, explained the conditions at present obtaining in the Post Office. Telegrams for all places outside the twenty-six counties were, he said, being despatched without appreciable delay. To places in the twenty-six counties where the wires were intact a service was being maintained. In Dublin a telephone service was being maintained for the Government. Medical, ambulance, and sick calls were also being attended to, as well as some urgent business calls. The service was improving from day to day.

Parcels and money orders had been "out" for the present, but postal orders and stamps were available everywhere as far as they knew. Incoming mails, however, suffered serious delay in transport through the action of the strikers. Threats had been uttered against those who remained at work, and there were two cases of the picketing of the homes of people who were working. Very heavy mails had been despatched to the North, and the offices as far as Dundalk were open and working. They hoped to do likewise with the Southern and Western groups directly.

People might be a little impatient of the fact that in the course of 48 hours they had failed to re-make the communications of the nation, but they were gradually re-making them, and would re-make them, strike or no strike.

In certain offices members of the staff were dribbling back. In Dublin they had an accession of strength during the last few days, and, also, during the last three or four hours, they had communications from other members, who desired to return on certain conditions.

Mr. O'Shannon—Promotions?

Mr. Walsh—As you hint at promotions, it might be useful, and I will bear it in mind. (Laughter.) Continuing, he said that in certain parts of the country strikers had changed their minds, and were gradually returning, and he hoped within the next few days to give a very favourable report in that respect. What the Government would do, or would not do, when the communications were fairly established, in respect of those who failed to report for duty, was a matter which they would hear about in due course.

Alderman A. Byrne said that he regretted that in the statement they had heard there was no hope expressed that efforts would be made to bring about a settlement of the dispute. He thought that it would eventually end, like all others, and the common-sense, level-headed men, of business capacity, would have to be brought in with a view to making suggestions which would be acceptable to both sides. He did not like the statement that they were going to beat that body of workers. He thought that it would be much better if some hope were held out or some suggestion made of outsiders being brought in, with a view to bringing about a friendly settlement.

COST OF LIVING.

He quoted a leaflet, in which he said that the Postmaster-General ordered a reduction of wages based on a cost-of-living scale that was not obtainable in Dublin; he did not know about the country districts. That scale of the cost of living was totally inadequate. The Postmaster-General put down, in that scale, the basis of rent for his workers at 5s. 2d. per week.

Professor McNeill asked from where the quotation had been taken.

Alderman Byrne replied that it was an extract from a pamphlet unauthorised by the Postal Workers' Union. No one, he went on, could obtain a room in a tenement house in Dublin for 5s. a week. The figure should, in some cases, be exactly doubled.

It was impossible to get a letter in Dublin, and the telephone service was not working. Although there were mails to England, that did not concern the average Dublin citizen if he could not get replies to his orders. He hoped that the Postmaster-General would not take up the attitude: "We have you out and we are going to beat you." That was not the attitude for a new Government to take up.

Mr. Davin (Labour) said that arising out of the statement issued by the Ministry for Home Affairs, on Monday, there was a matter of serious import at issue—the question of the liberty of the individual citizen. He, as one who had been on strike, could tell the Postmaster-General that no amount of bluff or camouflage was going to finish the dispute.

He alleged that the fact that the dispute had arisen at this particular moment was due to the tactless manner in which the Postmaster-General dealt with the whole situation. He believed that the strike would eventually be settled, and settled without the surrender of the strikers to the Postmaster-General.

Mr. Gavan Duffy said that much as he sympathised with labour, he felt that the Government were not responsible for the strike. But, he asked, why on earth did the Government go out of their way to put themselves in the wrong? The Minister for Home Affairs had issued a proclamation enunciating the principle that Civil Servants could not strike; he had in fact decided on a game of bluff, and stated that no civilised Government in the world would allow their Civil Servants to go out on strike. He did not know where the Minister got that strange piece of information. He had known very serious strikes on the part of Civil Servants.

Mr. Johnson said that he had a great deal of sympathy with the view expressed as to the relations between Southern and Northern Ireland. It was desirable that a better understanding should be promoted between the people on the north-east corner and the people of the rest of Ireland.

With regard to the postal strike, the Labour Party had no particular interest in it, except in so far as it affected the general cause of labour, and, he held that the Government were doing a very wrong thing in directing that pickets should be interfered with.

STATEMENT ABOUT NORTH SOON.

Mr. Blythe, Minister for Local Government, replying, said that there was a great deal of grotesque misunderstanding between the North and the South. The matter was under the consideration of the Government, and a statement on the subject would be made by the President at an early date.

As to the postal strike, it was not right to say that the Government was making an attack on trades unionism. Civil servants were in a different position from all other industrial workers; they were the machinery of the Government, and his view of their position was that if they were allowed the right to strike, and, when the strike was settled, to go back to their positions without suffering any damage to their pensions, or otherwise, then civil servants would have the right to hold up the machinery of government at any time. The Government could not accept that position—a position in which one small section of labour could decide whether the Government could carry on.

There was a clear distinction between civil servants and the ordinary industrial workers. The action of the Government in this case offered no menace whatever to trades unionism, or to the ordinary industrial worker. (Hear, hear.) The Government were not employers in the ordinary sense of the word; they were the representatives of the community, and their attitude in the matter was wholly impersonal. It was no profit to the members of the Government to reduce the wages of the servants of the State. If they took up the position that civil servants had not the right to strike, then it followed logically that civil servants had not a right to picket. There was a special reason why the Government could not allow picketting at the present time. The Minister for Home Affairs said that Amiens street had been fired into while there was a crowd round the door. Anybody knew that the assembling of a crowd outside a Government building would facilitate an attack on the building. In another case a soldier was fired at by an irregular who hid himself behind a crowd of people. Any assembling of workers outside a building would hinder the troops from dealing with any attack that might be made upon them.

PICKETS AND ATTACKS.

If there was no dispute as to the right to strike, and even if they admitted the right to picket, he supposed everyone would agree that pickets could not be allowed to assemble to be cover for people making attacks on the military. Deputy Johnson had made a reference to military being thrown into the scale on the side of employers. His opinion was that the duty of the Government in industrial disputes was to keep the ring.

The motion was passed.

COMMITTEE ON SALARIES.

The following Committee on Salaries was elected:—Messrs. Michael Doyle, Cathal O'Shannon, T. J. O'Connell, James N. Dolan, George Nicholls, M. Staines, J. B. Whelehan, D. McCarthy, Christopher Byrne, and Liam de Roiste.

RAILWAY DISLOCATION.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION UNABLE TO MEET.

The proceedings of the annual general meeting of the Irish Medical Association, which had been previously adjourned, were again postponed yesterday, when members met at the Royal College of Surgeons, Dr. W. Fottrell having taken the chair.

Dr. C. H. Denham, Acting Secretary, read a letter from the Law Agents (Messrs. A. J. Robinson), who suggested that under the existing circumstances the meeting should be adjourned sine die.

The meeting was accordingly adjourned, and it transpired that the cause of the non-attendance of members was due to the dislocation of train services.

It appeared from the Council's report, which was circulated, that last year the membership of the Association on December 31, 1920, numbered 684, and on December 31, 1921, the number stood at 664. The matter of reorganisation was still under consideration by the British Medical Association. The Insurance Bureau, opened a few years ago, had proved a most useful branch of the work.

At a special general meeting altering the by-law the subscription had been raised to two guineas.

The income received, with the balance in hand, amounted to £1,065 14s. 6d., leaving a balance of £255 5s. 1d. in hand.

NEWSPAPERS AND CIRCULARS.

The British Postmaster-General is requested by the Irish Free State Post Office to announce that it will not, until further notice, undertake to handle newspapers or circulars, and that correspondence for the Irish Free State should be confined to letters of an urgent character.

Thousands of ladies keep a box of Martin's Pills in the house. Those who use them recommend them, hence their enormous sale. Price 5s., post free. Sold by all Chemists and Stores. Prior and Co., Chemists, Londonderry, sell them, or from Proprietors, Martin, Chemists, Southampton.—(Advt.)

Every postal telegraph and cable company office in the United States will now accept messages for transmission to Great Britain by the Transatlantic wireless circuits conducted by the Radio Corporation of America and Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company, Limited.

U.S. MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED IRREGULAR.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Stocks opened strong, with Industrials up 1 to 5 points, many new high levels being established on the rapid expansion of Steel operations. The settlement of the strike on 52 roads was a stimulating influence, but a later break in Erie issues, due to a bear raid, and weakness of other railroads, caused active realising and selling of industrials; then the bidding up of Atchison Topeka Common, Domestic Oils, and miscellaneous issues influenced confused movements in the final dealings. The market closed irregular. Government Bonds easy; Railroad Bonds firm.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

WHEAT on spot steady at late rates. 100 boatloads were taken to-day for export. Receipts—Atlantic 353,000, last year 994,000; clearances 37,000, last year 1,254,000.

FLOUR steady.

CORN on spot steady at ¼c. rise. Export engagements—Corn, 20 boatloads; rye, 50 boatloads. Receipts—Atlantic 40,000, last year 64,000; clearances 95,000, last year nil.

LARD—Cash firm at 15 points rise.

COFFEE opened steady and unchanged to 3 points up on better Brazilian market cables and buying by trade interests; then reacted sharply owing to pressure of notices, liquidation, and stop-loss selling, the market closing steady, 23 to 12 points lower. Spot steady and unchanged. Approximate sales—42,000. October, 9.40; December, 9.54; March, 9.56; May, 9.56; July, 9.56.

RUBBER firm at ⅛c. to ¼c. advance; first latex crepe, 14¾; smoked ribbed sheets, 14¾.

SUGAR steady; Porto Rico, nominal. Futures steady, 1 point up to unchanged. October, 3.21; December, 3.29; March, 3.11; May, 3.22.

COTTON opened steady, 13 to 23 points up, and held the rise for a time on bullish private crop news, firm cables, New Orleans buying, and a better public demand; then reacted on Southern selling, but again moved up under a bullish weekly Government weather report and foreign buying. The smaller exports prompted realising, and, although Southern spot advices were firmer, Wall street selling kept values down, and the market closed easy at 18 to 34 points reduction. Spot quiet at 20 points fall. New Orleans spot unchanged. The Watkins Bureau estimate the crop condition at 53.6 and the total crop 10,282,000 running bales. Receipts—Atlantic 4,000, Gulf 16,000. Exports—Britain nil, Continent nil. September, 21.40; October, 21.52; November, 21.66; December, 21.80; January, 21.62; February, 21.70; March, 21.80; April, 21.76; May, 21.72; June, 21.63; July, 21.52; August, unquoted.

COTTON OIL firm at the quotations; summer yellow spot unquoted.

PETROLEUM steady.

KANSAS CITY—Wheat easy, ⅛c. lower; No. 2 hard winter, 103⅛.

ST. LOUIS—Wheat weak at 2c. loss; No. 2 red winter, 112¼.

MINNEAPOLIS—Wheat easy at ⅛c. decline; No. 1 Northern spring, 107⅞.

WINNIPEG—Wheat opened steady, ⅛c. to ¼c. up, but later eased off, and closed easy at ⅛c. to ⅜c. fall; October, 94⅛; December, 93⅛. Oats steady and unchanged; October, 41.

CHICAGO, Wednesday.

WHEAT opened steady and unchanged to ⅛c. up, and further improved on rumoured export business bullish Liverpool cables, a demand from millers and commission houses, and shorts covering; but took a downward turn later under better crop news from the Canadian North-West, larger North-West receipts, weaker Winnipeg markets, light seaboard clearances, outsiders holding off, and cash houses selling. The market closed easy, ⅛c. to ⅛c. down. Spot steady. No. 2 hard winter, spot, 102⅛; No. 3 hard winter, 101⅛. September, 99⅛; December, 100⅛; May, 105⅛.

CORN opened steady at ⅛c. rise, and scored further gains under a bullish report by Mr. Snow, small stocks, and purchases by cash and commission houses; then declined on a bearish weekly weather bulletin, improved weather in the South-West, and realising, the market closing barely steady, ⅛c. higher to unchanged. No. 2 mixed, spot, 63⅛. September, 62⅛; December, 56⅛; May, 60⅛.

OATS steady at ⅛c. advance to ⅛c. fall. September, 34⅛; December, 34⅛; May, 37⅛.

PROVISIONS opened steady. Lard rose on higher hog prices, shorts covering, some commission house purchases, and professional support, while ribs declined under light liquidation, the market closing irregular, with lard 17½ to 7½ points up and ribs 5 points down. Lard—September, 10.40; October, 10.42½; January, 8.92½. Pork unquoted. Ribs—September, 9.50; October, 9.60.

BACON steady and unchanged. The receipts of hogs at 15 principal Western centres, including Chicago, since March 1, total 14,353,000, against 13,764,000 for the same season last year.

VICKERS' CHINESE NOTES.

Messrs. Vickers, Ltd., announce that they have received cable information from their representatives in Peking to the effect that the Chinese Government are prepared to secure the 8 per cent. Sterling 10 Year Treasury Notes, 1925-1929, on the proposed increase in the maritime Customs duty from 5 per cent. to 7½ per cent., which is now under consideration by an International Commission in China, and that the British Minister in Peking has been unable to take cognisance of this proposed arrangement, in view of the fact that the International Conference has not yet completed its investigations into the financial obligations of China. Messrs. Vickers announce that they have no sums in hand for the service of the coupon due on October 1st next, and have no information as to whether or not the funds will be provided by the Chinese Government.

The Prussian Government has abandoned the idea of imposing heavier lodging taxes on foreigners, as was contemplated some time ago. Fees will be required, however, from foreigners for police permits, which are necessary for entering Germany and for residing there.

DUBLIN AND THE PROVINCES.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS.

STREET BETTING.—Richard Kinsella (25), described as a betting man, of 28 Winifred street, was charged in the Dublin Police Court yesterday with frequenting and loitering at Rathmines terrace on Tuesday and various other occasions for the purpose of receiving and settling bets. Twenty betting dockets, a pay-out book, and £3 19s. in cash were found on him. The defendant was fined £2.

POSSESSION OF BICYCLE.—Frank Smith, labourer, and Henry Bovenizer, packer, of St. Mary's terrace, were charged in the Dublin Police Court—the former with the theft of a bicycle, and the latter with having it illegally in his possession. Bovenizer was discharged, and Smith, who pleaded guilty to illegal possession, was allowed out, to come up for judgment when called upon.

LEINSTER.

McKEEVER MEMORIAL.—On Sunday last the Bishop of Meath dedicated a brass eagle lectern in St. Secundinus's Church, Co. Meath, to the memory of the late Mr. W. F. McKeever, of Parsonstown Manor. The lectern is an eagle standing upon a shaft, engraved in fine Celtic design. At the base is the inscription:—"To the glory of God, in memory of William Frederick McKeever, of Parsonstown Manor. Died August 11, 1920. Presented by his loving wife and sons."

ULSTER.

PROTEST AGAINST EXTRAVAGANCE.—At a meeting of the Armagh Rural Council yesterday, Mr. J. J. W. Dunlop alluded to the county tuberculosis scheme, alleging that there was a great waste of money, and that the power of the ratepayers to pay for all the county schemes was limited at present. He also asserted that most of the meetings of the County Council were held behind closed doors, and that the public knew nothing of the proceedings. The Chairman said that the cost of the tuberculosis scheme was about £3,000 a year. Mr. Dunlop moved that a strong resolution be sent to the County Council protesting against the extravagant expense in connection with the scheme, stating that even were it economically managed, it was not producing results commensurate with the cost. Mr. John Corkey seconded the resolution, which was passed.

AMMUNITION CHARGE.—Rodger O'Kane, Patrick O'Kane, James O'Kane, and John O'Kane (father and three sons), all of Glack, County Derry, were charged at Londonderry with having in their possession ammunition, with intent to endanger life, and also documents relating to an unlawful association. The magistrate returned the defendants for trial to the Quarter Sessions.

RAILWAY APPOINTMENT.—Mr. R. R. Stewart, for twenty years auditor and secretary of the Cavan and Leitrim Railway Company at the Dublin offices, has been appointed secretary and general manager in succession to the late Mr. McAdoo.

WOMAN KILLED ON G.N.R.—Mary Hammond, aged 26, Finaghy, Belfast, was killed on the Great Northern Railway near her home on Tuesday night. She was seen to go into the garden in her night attire, but her relatives thought that she was going for a walk. Later they became alarmed, and on a search being made, the dead body was found on the railway at the rear of the house.

Parnell street Post Office, Dublin, was raided by four armed men on Tuesday. They stole £12.

Armed and disguised men entered a house in Ballindrait district of County Donegal, and stole linen, wearing apparel, and silver.

Potatoes were plentiful at Boyle market, and sold at 3s. 6d. a cwt., eggs 1s. 6d. a dozen, butter 1s. 10d. to 2s. a lb.

Mr. Doyle, Stationmaster, Sligo, has been appointed inspector of the Mayo Branch of the Midland Railway, in succession to Mr. Kerrigan, transferred to Mullingar.

Rates amounting to £3,000 are due to the Coolavin District Council, County Sligo. In consequence the Council is unable to pay claims received since last monthly meeting.

Many tenants in County Donegal have refused to pay rents, and some agents have received nothing for the past three years. Many Land Commission annuitants are among the defaulters.

Birr Post Office was raided on Monday. Parcels were opened, telegraph instruments broken, and pension books taken. The latter were found in the river yesterday, and the old age pensions are being paid.

King's County Hospital and Homes Committee has fixed £6 6s. a week, with £3 3s. maintenance allowance, for doctors' substitutes, who must reside in dispensary districts, subject to departmental sanction.

CO. CORK LIVELINESS.

SEARCHES, AMBUSHES, AND ATTACKS.

National troops have made extensive searches in Cork and district, and have seized several ammunition dépôts belonging to the irregulars. In an untenanted house in Blarney street, Cork, six rifles, several revolvers, detonators, bombs and fuses were discovered, and in George's street a trunk full of bombs was found.

In a search of the Blarney-Donoughmore-Coachford areas the troops dug up 15 land mines, found ten loaded machine gun drums, and some hand and rifle grenades. Bombs were found hidden in a graveyard.

Though the national troops met with no opposition in their operations, they learned that a small party of the irregulars had become detached from the main body, and were hiding in a wood between Blarney and Donoughmore. The soldiers surrounded the position and opened fire, and in the exchange of shots the irregulars are reported to have suffered severe casualties, but there were no casualties on the national side.

Early on Sunday morning an explosion startled the City of Cork and district. The cause was the blowing up of the swivel road bridge over the Glanmire River at Dunkettle. The concussion shook the houses in Cork; while in Blackrock concrete flooring was cracked. The destruction of this bridge blocks the main road from Cork to Queenstown and Youghal, but a three miles' detour can be made through Glanmire Valley.

A circumstantial report from the South says that last Friday an aeroplane made a forced landing at Toames, near Macroom. Local irregulars, in the absence of the pilot, fired some shots into it, and it took fire. National forces from Macroom were sent to the scene, but just as they arrived there was a loud explosion, which wrecked the aeroplane. A cargo of bombs, it is surmised, blew up. The aeroplane was believed to have been travelling from Dublin to Limerick.

CORNS, ACHES, TENDERNESS AND OTHER FOOT MISERY EASY TO GET RID OF NOW.

At last! Take corns out, not merely off without plasters, dangerous cutting or caustic liquids. Also stops the acid perspiration which ruins shoes and causes soreness, etc., says C. S. TURNER, formerly of the R.A.M.C.

Perhaps you have invited blood poison by hacking the top off that corn with a razor, or burnt it off with caustic pastes, liquids or plasters, soaked it in hot water, picked dubiously at it with your finger-nails, and sprinkled it with various powders to stop the aching. After doing all this and waiting patiently for results, you either find that most of the corn has stayed right on duty through it all, or else a brand new top has sprouted up to replace the old one, and the ache is still doing business at the old stand, worse than ever, and plus considerable extra soreness of raw skin around the corn. This is because you have only worried and irritated the top of the corn without at all affecting the little pointed part or core, which is the real business end that causes all the pain by pressing on sensitive nerves. It would be as logical to cut the top off an aching tooth to stop the pain.

It is only after all these time-wasting experiments with a corn, unpleasant as they are, that you are really ready to appreciate the marvellous way saltrated water acts, and how totally different it is from anything else. It soon dissolves out the oil from dead, hardened, calloused, "corny" skin, leaving it soft and "mushy" as fresh putty, so that corns can easily be picked right out, root and all, whereas callouses turn white, curl up at the edges, and come entirely off at one scrape with the dull edge of a knife. Sound, healthy skin is not affected in any way by the water except that it is wonderfully refreshing to sore, tired, tender, aching feet.

To prepare the medicated water, which is also oxygenated, invest a few pence in a supply of the Reudel Bath Saltrates compound, which is obtainable from any chemist, this being the registered name by which physicians and chiropodists prescribe it. Use about a tablespoonful to a gallon of rather hot water and rest the feet in this, but first bid all your foot misery a final farewell, for such tortures will soon be only unpleasant memories of the past.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

STAGNATION, OWING TO POSTAL STRIKE. FUNDS LOWER. GUINNESS AND CITY STEAM STRONG. COATS AND "IRISH TIMES" PREF. FIRM AND HIGHER.

With little more than a dozen transactions on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday afternoon it can be easily seen that business was almost at vanishing point owing to the postal and telegraph interruption caused by the strike. The Funds were controlled by over-night quotations from the other side, and as these were easing owing to Near East affairs prices here were weaker in the majority of cases. Banks closed rather steadier, and among Breweries, Guinness again monopolised attention, and the Ord. were in keen request throughout. The bidding for City of Dublin Steam Stocks was renewed, and a further advance established. Marconis were neglected. Home Rails also were passed over without a single transaction being put through. Dublin Trams were just steady at last price. Dunlop issues did not quote. Coats rallied, but other Textiles, except Courtaulds, were, with Tobacco shares, idle and neglected. Irish Times Pref. issues again improved.

In the Funds, Consols fell ¼ to 56¼, and Conversion 3½ p.c. ⅜ to 73¼, while War Loan 5 p.c. repeated 100.

Banks were unchanged. Bank Stock repeated 225, and Hibernians 6½. Others were neglected.

Dealing in Breweries was, as usual, confined to Guinness issues. The Ord. opened ¼ better at 43, and later 1/16 more was current. The Pref. were quiet and unchanged at 11⅞.

City of Dublin Steam Stock rose 2 more to 136.

In Rails, the best bid for Midland Great Western Ord. was again 23, or 3 under last price. Nothing else was done or apparently attempted in this important market.

A few Dublin United Tram Ord. again fetched 6⅜.

In Textiles, Coats Ord. rallied 6d. to 67s., and Courtaulds quoted 55s. 6d.-55s. 3d.

In Trading, etc., Dockrell Ord., at 14s. 9d., and Heiton Pref., at 65s., were steady. H. Williams and Co. Ord. realised 50s. Irish Times Pref. rose 6d. to 60s., and the 2nd Pref. 3d. to 12s. 9d.

Shell Transports realised 92s. 6d.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The full report of the Calico Printers' Association, which the shareholders are receiving to-day, varies but little from the preliminary statement already published. The accounts cover a period of two years ended June, 1922, during which a net profit of £503,542 was earned, after providing Debenture interest, and £1,659,235 (against £1,567,431) for depreciation and the like. For the two preceding years the net profit amounted to £1,216,960, and dividends of 5 per cent and 10 per cent. were paid on the Ordinary capital for the respective periods. The dividend for the past year is 7½ per cent., against 5 per cent. for 1920-21; the sum of £50,000 goes to employés' benefit fund, and £237,371 is carried forward. The balance sheet of the Association shows some big changes. Stock has been written down from £5,025,058 to £1,949,668, which, presumably, represents market values as at June 30 last. Sundry debtors figure for £3,148,265, against £3,153,830; whilst the item cash and bills in hand and at banks is nearly £600,000 larger at £1,379,605. On the other hand, sundry creditors stand for only £1,982,848, as compared with £3,994,123 two years previously; while the balances at credit of depreciation and reserve accounts are more than £200,000 greater at £2,517,208.

Further consideration of the rubber output control decision prompts the question, "Why did not the big rubber interests come to an amicable arrangement long ere now?" Many schemes have been propounded and turned down. One has a shrewd suspicion that jealousy among the big groups has been the crux of the whole situation. There is probably no industry where so much clannishness exists, and these petty jealousies have been one cause of an enormous loss of revenue, simply because the stubbornness of a few has prevented producers from forming a "pool." Concerted action would probably long ago have sent the price of the commodity up to 1/- per lb., but, says the A.B.C. rubber group, why should we support this scheme of the X.Y.Z. plantations combine, and so on. The attitude taken up has been pitiful, for time and again it has been shown that the problem has been capable of solution. Matters have been allowed to drift, and looks as if the Colonial Government will have to come in and take the reins. Then, ultimately, those who are now demanding legislative measures will be clamouring for decontrol. It is the way of the world.

In connection with the compulsory liquidation of the Greater Britain Insurance Corporation, Ltd., the Official Receiver has notified those persons who transferred their shares in this company twelve months prior to the liquidation of his intention to place them on the "B" list of contributories. Shareholders desirous of objecting to the inclusion of their names in this list are requested to communicate with Mr. George A. J. Smallman, solicitor, 10-12 Copthall avenue, London, E.C. (a holder of 3,000 shares), on or before September 21 next, the date fixed by the Official Receiver for the settlement of the list.

The following cable has just been received from New York by the London office of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York:—"The settlement of the anthracite coal strike and the return to work in the bituminous mines is of vital importance to all industries, but the coal shortage is expected to last until 1923. Four Eastern railroads have declared an embargo against certain classes of freight, in order to use all equipment possible to get coal to New York. The production of pig iron during August has been affected by the blowing out of approximately 20 per cent. of the furnaces previously in operation, because of the scarcity of fuel. The August output shows a decrease of 584,000 tons, or 24 per cent., from July output. The 1,816,170 gross tons produced during August is the smallest amount produced during any month this year since February, but exceeds production in August, 1921, by 862,000 tons."

The proposal of the directors of the South Australian Co. that a distribution of assets of £35 per share shall be made to those shareholders who were registered in the company's books on August 31, 1922, having been approved at the special general meeting held on July 31, and duly confirmed on August 16, that sum will be payable on September 30 next.

Provisional arrangements for the amalgamation of the well-known Scottish wholesale drapery houses of J. and W. Campbell and Stewart and McDonald, Glasgow, have been announced. The capital of the new firm will amount to £1,000,000 sterling, with Mr. Pearce Campbell as Chairman and Sir Andrew Pettigrew as Vice-Chairman of the Joint Board.

The transfer books of the Clogher Valley Railway Company will be closed from 17th till 30th instant, both days inclusive.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

STAGNATION, OWING TO POSTAL STRIKE. FUNDS LOWER. GUINNESS AND CITY STEAM STRONG. COATS AND "IRISH TIMES" PREF. FIRM AND HIGHER.

With little more than a dozen transactions on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday afternoon it can be easily seen that business was almost at vanishing point owing to the postal and telegraph interruption caused by the strike. The Funds were controlled by over-night quotations from the other side, and as these were easing owing to Near East affairs prices here were weaker in the majority of cases. Banks closed rather steadier, and among Breweries, Guinness again monopolised attention, and the Ord. were in keen request throughout. The bidding for City of Dublin Steam Stocks was renewed, and a further advance established. Marconis were neglected. Home Rails also were passed over without a single transaction being put through. Dublin Trams were just steady at last price. Dunlop issues did not quote. Coats rallied, but other Textiles, except Courtaulds, were, with Tobacco shares, idle and neglected. Irish Times Pref. issues again improved.

In the Funds, Consols fell ¼ to 56¼, and Conversion 3½ p.c. ⅛ to 73¼, while War Loan 5 p.c. repeated 100.

Banks were unchanged. Bank Stock repeated 225, and Hibernians 6½. Others were neglected.

Dealing in Breweries was, as usual, confined to Guinness issues. The Ord. opened ½ better at 43, and later 1/16 more was current. The Pref. were quiet and unchanged at 11½.

HEALTHIER STOCKS.

IRREGULAR PRICES.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT AND THE "FINANCIAL NEWS" OF TO-DAY.)

The Stock Markets exhibited a much more healthy undertone yesterday. Primarily this was due to the slight improvement in the political news from abroad, and, although it cannot be said that business generally showed any marked signs of expansion, there was at any rate sufficient doing to keep interest sustained. British Funds, in particular, evinced a welcome disposition to reach a higher level of quotations, all the leaders, with the exception of Consols, being featured mildly in this respect. On the whole, the Home Railway market made an irregular opening, but features were more plentiful than they have been of late. The Heavy Stocks were all easier, with the exception of South-Western Def., which continued in demand, and were again marked higher. Underground Stocks were again in considerable favour, and there are still rumours in the House of a possible reconstruction of capital.

LONDON STOCKS UNCERTAIN.

FIRM TONE MAINTAINED.

There was an absence of activity all round on the Stock markets yesterday, but, owing to the lack of more unfavourable news from abroad, the tone was fairly well maintained. In the morning there was a decided tendency to a recovery, but as the close drew near the tone was less confident. In Gilt-edged Securities changes were few. The 4 p.c. War Loan added ⅛ at 102, but Consols fell ⅛ to 56⅛ x.d., and the 3½ p.c. War Loan ⅛ to 94⅛.

FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES were very quiet. French Loans remained unaltered, as did German Threes. Brazil Funding 1908 rose 1 to 87, and Mexican Sixes gained a point at 68½.

HOME RAILS were a trifle better, though changes were rather mixed. Brighton "A" rose a point to 62½, and S.E. Def. 1½ to 31. Undergrounds continued to advance. Districts rose ½ to 43½, and Underground Electric Inc. Bonds rose 1 to 85½. Electric Ord. gained ⅛ at 2⅜. S.E. Def. rose ½ to 35, Great Northern Pref. lost a point at 64, and Midland Def. dropped 1 at 66. Great Eastern at 36½, Great Western at 101½, and L.N.W. at 101½ each lost ½.

In COLONIAL and FOREIGN RAILS "Canpacs" were unchanged. Grand Trunks did not move. In Argentines, Pacifics rose 1 to 52½. Leopoldina at 39½ added 2 points. San Paulo Ord. fell 1 to 125½, and Antofagasta Ord. ½ to 68½.

OIL SHARES STEADY.

RISE IN EAGLES.

During the early hours of yesterday a distinctly brighter tendency was in evidence in the Oil share market, and, although the volume of business failed to show any appreciable expansion, the prices of the leading descriptions and certain of the more speculative favourites moved steadily upward. Shells and Royal Dutch were helped by the higher prices received from New York, and the market closed with a firm appearance. Mexican Eagles provided the most active spot among the leaders, the shares coming into prominence from the start, and moving up smartly in response to some strong bidding. Royal Dutch were a firm market throughout the day, finishing at an advance, and Shells also strengthened; but Anglo-Persians weakened on a moderate amount of selling. Among Roumanians Phœnix Oil and Transports were looking a much better market than of late, business in the shares being on a good scale, but they left off below the best. Roumanian Consolidated, however, remained on the dull side, and Steaua Romana finished easier. Tankers Prefs. gave way sharply in the morning on the report, and left off showing a decline. Scottish-Americans weakened on the proposal to create new shares. Opening firm at 3 5/16, Mexican Eagles were bid for and rose to 3 7/16. After dropping back to the opening price, they strengthened again in the afternoon, and were finally ⅛ up at 3 13/32. The 8 p.c. Prefs. gained a like amount at 3 5/16, and the 7 p.c. Prefs. closed steady at 19s. 10½d. Royal Dutch started at 39¼, improved to 39½, and finished with a gain of ⅛ at 39⅜. Shells were alternately bid for and offered at 4⅝, finishing either side of the price, the result of the day's business being a gain of 1/32. The two Pref. issues left off steady and unchanged. Burmahs were quiet, closing without alteration at 5 11/16. After changing hands at 5 13/16, Anglo-Persian Ord. closed with a loss of 1/32 at 5⅛. The 8 p.c. Prefs. remained at 25s. 6d., and the 9 p.c. Prefs. strengthened to 26s. 3d. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES QUIET.

The Rubber Share market was quiet, but there was a rather better feeling, and several advances were recorded, not of importance, but more widely spread than is usual. Anglo-Dutch rose 6d. to 26s. 9d., Bukit Rajah added 9d. at 15s., Lanadron advanced 1s. 6d. to 10s. 6d., and Telogoredjo 9d to 25s. The falls generally were insignificant, but Rubber Estates of Johore dropped 1s. 6d. to 14s. The price of rubber closed at 7½d. per lb. Closing prices:—

DANISH BACON.

It is expected that this year in Denmark 70 per cent. of the 1914 output of bacon will be reached. The 1914 tally of pigs killed was two and a quarter millions, and over half the bacon imported into England came from Denmark. The annual report of the Danish co-operative bacon curing factories shows how constant effort is made to select the best breeding animals for the industry, and both breeding and killing is done under Government veterinary supervision.

South Australia's production of wine in 1921 was 7,807,406 gallons from 24,971 acres of vineyards.

LONDON MINING MARKET WEAK.

QUOTATIONS GENERALLY EASIER.

Dulness ruled in all departments practically from start to finish yesterday, and in the Kaffir section a good deal of uneasiness still prevailed. This was, no doubt, due to the fact that the Cape which a week ago or so had been a keen purchaser of its favourites was no longer taking much interest. With Paris still indifferent, and the public waiting for a lead, professionals were disinclined to do more than carry on from day to day, and thus, after very modest fluctuations, quotations were generally the turn easier at the close. The fact that the price of gold advanced 3d. to 92s. 9d. was without influence, while a little inquiry in the street for one or two counters met with no response, and failed to restore values to any appreciable extent. Once more the shrinkages were not individually important, but they were fairly widespread, and the only exception was provided by Witwatersrand Deep, which were again in request, and moved up, the market being practically bare of shares. Rhodesians followed in the wake of the sister department, and although Chartered managed to maintain their position, Rezende, Tanks, Zams, and Cam and Motor were easier. With regard to the last-named, rumours were in circulation of further good developments, but no official news came to hand during business hours. Esperanza were unaffected by the latest news of developments on the Decubridora Vein at the 7th Level. In reference to the Minerals Separation, it is announced by the Utah and Nevada Consolidated Copper Companies that the pending litigation with the first-named company has been satisfactorily settled out of Court, and that the copper companies are now licensees under the patents of the Minerals Separation North-American Corporation. INDUSTRIALS DULL.

DYESTUFFS IN DEMAND.

With buyers still holding aloof pending a clearance of the atmosphere in the political world, and holders of stock seeking to take profits, Miscellaneous and Industrial markets had a rather dull appearance. Courtaulds further receded among Textiles, which showed irregularity. Cellulose issues, however, kept firm. In connection with the Cellulose issue of Debentures, the general opinion appears to be that the Ordinary shareholders are being rather badly treated. Dyestuffs continued in demand on reports that the distribution of reparations dyes from Germany is to be undertaken in future by the British Dyestuffs Corporation, so far as Great Britain and the Empire is concerned.

Profit-taking in Ind Coopes was responsible for a set-back to 2, which left the shares 3s. lower on balance. Watney Combe Def. fell 2 to 223½, and the Pref. 1 to 52½. Allsopps hardened to 10s. among caterers; A.B.C.'s hardened to 3s.; Liptons kept at 27s., and Lyons at 4⅛. In the Foodstuffs list Bovril Def. lost the turn at 18s. 7½d. Maypoles still ruled at 6s. 9d. Apart from Canadians, which further receded to 10s. 9d., Marconi Wireless issues showed no quotable alterations. Nitrates showed very little movement. Bays enjoyed a rise among Land Shares, closing ⅛ higher at 7 1/16; while the Prefs. remained at 4 13/16. Pekins gave way to 9s. 6d., and Shansis to 13/32; while Sudan Plantations lost 1/16 at 4⅜, and Forestals eased to 18s. 3d. No movements of interest occurred in Bank Shares. Among Insurances the only noticeable alteration was in Phœnix, which put on ⅛ to 10⅛. Renewed support was forthcoming for Dyestuffs, which put on another 6d. to 5s., and the Prefs. closed 9d. better at 7s. Elsewhere among Textiles, Cellulose kept the price at 6s., and the Prefs. at about 9s. Courtaulds lost 3d. at 54s. 6d., as did also Bleachers at 41s. 6d., and Amalgamated Cottons at 15s. 9d. Bradford Dyers further receded to 44s. 3d., and Fine Spinners to 41s. 6d. Calico Printers rose 6d. to 24s.

Among Miscellaneous trading concerns, Salt Unions came into favour, and put on 6d. to 18s. 6d.; while Brunner Monds closed 6d. better at 33s. 6d., with a fair amount of business passing. Apart from a jump of 2s. in C.A.V. Pref. to 7s., Motors scarcely moved; but in the Newspaper and Printing section Amalgamated Press rose 1/16 to 2 1/16. Associated Newspapers 5 p.c. Pref. improved to 19s., though the Ord. gave way to 21s. 3d. Among Tobaccos B.A.T.'s lost 3d. at 88s. 3d. x.d., and Imperials gained that much to 69s., and Canadians improved to 21s. 9d. Clayton Wagons receded to 17s., or 1s. 6d. lower on the day; while Clayton and Shuttleworths relapsed to 9s. 6d. Elsewhere in the Iron and Steel list Tata Iron Debs. lost ⅛ at 95½, and Vickers tax-free Prefs. were the turn easier at 16s. 7½d., though the Ord. kept the price at 12s. On the other hand, United Steels continued in demand, and finished 6d. higher at 9s. 6d., and Bengal Irons improved to 21s. 3d. Port Talbot Steel Debs. rose 1 to 86, and Chinese Engineering gained 1/16 at 3 1/16.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANABLE CAPITAL SCARCER.

DISCOUNTS EASIER.

With one or two of the big banks withdrawing funds for balance sheet purposes, the position of loanable credit was by no means so comfortable. However, this was regarded as only a temporary phase, and as no upward movement in the Bank rate is expected immediately, there was rather more business transacted in discounts. Night money was being eagerly bid for at 2 p.c., and more was actually paid now and again, but fixtures were still being renewed at 1½ p.c. In discounts the tendency was inclined to be easier. The new Treasury bills were wanted at 2 1/16 p.c., while the buyers of October Treasuries had to concede a little more in order to get the bills, the rate being 2⅛ p.c. Even at this, sellers were not eager. In ordinary fine paper there was an inquiry for three months' bills, the rate for which was not better than 2 5/16 p.c. Sixes were nominally 2⅛-2⅞ p.c.

Gold rose 3d. per oz. to 92s. 9d. Bar silver fell ⅛d. per oz. on small business to 35⅛d. for spot and 35⅛d. for forward delivery.

The absence of any settlement of the reparations dispute caused depression in the foreign exchanges market, and rates suffered a further set-back. German marks were offering at 7,050-7,075 to the £, while French francs weakened to 58.37-58.42, Belgium following suit at 61.72-61.75. Italian lires were also cheaper at 105¼-105½, and sterling weakened in New York to 4.43¾-4.44. Montreal was 4.44⅛-4.44⅜. Switzerland was steady at 23.55-23.57, Sweden at 16.77-16.80, Norway at 26.60-26.65, and Denmark at 20.82-20.85. Austrian crowns at 320,000-340,000 showed no improvement, despite the reports of a big loan, and Rumanian lei were weaker at 670-700. Polish marks remained round 30,000, and Prague was steady at 132-134. Japanese yen further appreciated to 2s. 2⅛d. The following are closing quotations:—

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday.—WHEAT—Disappointing American advices caused a slight set-back in the distant position of wheat here at the commencement, but with predicted curtailment of American shipments owing to the labour troubles values improved fairly, especially for current month, though later receded and finished under best, afternoon cables having little effect. C.i.f. parcels of No. 1 Manitoba 10th October sold at 43/7½ to 43/9, October-November 43/-, No. 2 hard winter afloat 43/-, Rosario-Santa Fe afloat 44/6 to Liverpool, and No. 1 Manitoba September 44/4½, 10th to 15th October 43/7½ to Manchester. C.i.f. parcels of MAIZE River Plate loading sold at 37/6, early October 36/6 to Liverpool, and American mixed September 31/4½ to Manchester. Wheat on the spot was firmly held for yesterday's extreme market currencies. Maize spot parcels firm at 7/2½ to 7/3 for American mixed, while River Plate was scarce and held at 9/- per cental. FLOUR in only moderate demand at recent decline. Graded red wheat futures opened lower for December, but afterwards improved until ½d. over last night had been paid, but finished only ⅛d. dearer on the day; September, after being 1d. dearer on shorts covering, receded, and closed only ⅛d. over last night. Maize options nominal.

GLASGOW, Wednesday.—Wheat 6d. down; sale dull. Flour favours buyers, with demand slow. Mixed American corn 3d. to 6d. easier; demand indifferent. Oats unchanged. Home oatmeal 1/- lower on the week; Canadian unchanged. Beans quiet at late rates.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday.—BACON—Live hogs and speculative products at Chicago showed a partial improvement, but heavy quantities of American bacon were entered here, which had a counteracting influence. There was again a steady to firm tone apparent in the market, but the demand was small, Cumberlands being still chiefly in request, and prices of heavy weights were raised to 106/- to 112/-, which represented the only quotable changes. HAMS remained quiet, with short cut only meeting a moderate inquiry, but prices were unaltered. Shoulders also quiet, and picnics were reduced 1/- at 60/- to 65/- per cwt. Canadian Wiltshires quietly steady at late rates. Irish and Continental firm on continued scarcity. LARD on the spot firm and dearer, with an improved demand, prime steam being now held at 63/- to 63/9, and American refined in boxes 65/3 to 66/6 per cwt. CHEESE less active, but steadily held at recent currencies. BUTTER firm and partially dearer, but demand somewhat checked by the high prices now ruling. Irish creameries held at 200/- to 205/-, and Canadian 197/- to 203/- per cwt. EGGS continue to tend upwards, Irish hen being now quoted 19/- to 20/6 per 120.

PATRICK KEHOE, LTD., Irish Bacon Curers and Lard Refiners, Importers of American Provisions. (Estd. 100 years.)—103 FRANCIS ST., DUBLIN. (Advt.)

REFINED LARD "FUTURES," Liverpool, Wednesday.—With Chicago cables on the whole encouraging, a fair demand was experienced here during early session especially for September, and prices realised showed 3d. to 6d. per cwt. advance on last night. Sales covered September 65/-, October 64/6, December 58/-, January 57/- per cwt. Better afternoon cables had little effect, the market closing steady at the early advance. October sold 64/9 to 64/6, January 57/3 to 57/-, September quoted 64/9 to 65/-, March 56/6 to 58/- ex quay, 65/- ex store, 65/3 sellers.

DUBLIN VEGETABLE, Wednesday.—About the usual mid-week supply of vegetables—namely, York cabbage 35/-, 55/-, 80/-, and 100/- per load; swedes, 2/- to 2/2 per cwt.; cauliflowers, 3/- to 4/6 per dozen; turnips, 3d. to 4d. per bunch; carrots, 1/6 to 1/8; tomatoes, 3d. to 5d. and 6d. per lb.; peas, per bag, 18/- to 21/-; parsley, 4d. to 6d. per float; apples, 12/- per barrel; plums, 2/6 to 3/3 per tray.

DUBLIN FISH, Wednesday.—A small supply of fish which met a fair demand, every cleared; one package salmon, 12 chests lobsters, a very small offering from country and local hookers and wind trawls. Prices ranged as follows:—Salmon 1/9 to 2/- per lb., large lobsters 10/- to 12/6, seconds 5/- to 7/6, smalls 2/6 to 5/- per lot of 13; large soles 30/- to 40/-, mediums 20/- to 25/-, slips 10/- to 15/- per 9 pairs; large plaice per 4, 5/- to 8/-, mediums per 8, 6/- to 8/-; plaice, per half box, 20/- to 50/-; ray 10/- to 17/6 per ditto.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Wednesday.—Supply fair; moderate demand. Salmon 32d. to 42d., soles, also slips, 14d. to 22d. per lb.; live eels 10/- to 20/-, dead 8/- to 15/-, draught; turbot, also brill, 8/- to 10/-, plaice 7/-, halibut 10/- to 12/-, lemon soles 10/-, whitches 6/-, cod 5/- to 6/-, whiting 3/- to 5/-, hake 7/- to 8/-, gurnet 3/-, haddocks 4/- to 5/-, bream 2/- to 3/- per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Wednesday.—Fair supply from 48 North Sea, two Iceland and two Faroe trawlers, and three liners. Moderate demand. Plaice 6/- to 8/6, lemon soles 14/-, halibut 10/- to 12/-, cod 5/- to 7/6, small haddocks 3/6, kit 5/6, gibbed 7/-, dabs 7/6, codlings 5/-, hake 8/-, whiting 3/-, ling 3/6 per stone; soles 1/10, turbot and brill 10d. per lb.

LONDON POTATO, Wednesday.—Trade quiet for heavy supplies. Quotations:—Best King Edwards £3 15/- to £4 5/-, bright soil, Sharp's Express, and Eclipse £2 15/- to £4 5/-, Arran Chiefs and British Queens, dark soil sorts, £2 10/- to £3 per ton.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Wednesday.—Market continues quiet; moderate demand at steady prices.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LEICESTER WOOL, Wednesday.—All classes of wool and yarn remain firm, especially the finer qualities, which are readily bought. In the hosiery department there is a good demand for specialities, chiefly on shipping account. There has been some trouble through cancellation of orders from America. The home trade is quite good, and orders are coming in to an extent which promises well for the autumn.

GLASGOW PIG IRON, Wednesday.—Market firm; sellers of No. 3 Scotch 107/6 f.a.s. Glasgow; sellers of No. 3 G.M.B. Middlesbrough 91/- f.o.b. Middlesbrough for forward delivery; sellers of mixed numbers East Coast hematite 99/6 f.o.b. Middlesbrough. No business.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

The market for TIN disclosed a firmer tone, though slightly irregular, while business proceeded with animation. On balance prices ruled 10/- per ton dearer for cash, and 15/- distant against the close of last Tuesday. Cash quoted £159 2/6 to £159 5/-, three months £160 5/- to £160 7/6, settlement price £159 5/-. Sales 950 tons; cash done £159 to £159 2/6 and £159 5/-. LONDON FREIGHTS—Wednesday.

There was a fair demand for homeward tonnage, chiefly for heavy grain cargoes from North America, at full rates. River Plate section remained dull, and prompt steamers offer freely at 20/-, with 22/- indicated for new season's grain. Eastern markets dull and quite featureless. Mediterranean and Bay ports quietly steady for mineral ore.

CATTLE AND SHEEP SALES.

Attention is drawn to Messrs. Gavin Low's important sales To-day (Thursday) they will offer at 50 Prussia street, Dublin, at 12 o'clock, 700 store cattle, consisting of A.A. pollies, aged horned and polled bullocks, and heifers, of good quality and in forward condition. To-morrow, at 12 o'clock, the same firm will conduct a sale in the Cattle Market of 5,000 brood ewes, store sheep, and lambs of the Galway, Roscommon, cross-bred, Cheviot, and black-face breeds. The majority of those sheep are consigned direct from well-known feeders in Connaught and Wicklow, and are well worthy of the attention of those requiring the best classes of sheep.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Catalogues comprising 12,788 bales of wool, consisting of 8,713 bales privately-owned and 4,075 bales on account of the B.A.W.R.A., were brought forward last evening. The market showed no appreciable change. The demand continues exceptionally strong for medium to fine greasy cross-bred wools. The Committee of London Wool Brokers announce that, by instructions of the B.A.W.R.A., a public sale of about 33,500 bales Australasian wool will take place on Thursday and Friday, 28th and 29th September, at 9.30 a.m., at the Wool Saleroom, Eberle street, Liverpool.

WHAT YOU NEED

and what everyone needs to achieve happiness and success, is the power of employing and maintaining one's strength to the full. Men and women whose labours involve a considerable amount of brain work often neglect their bodily health; but it should never be forgotten that physical and mental fitness are closely related. Certain it is that under the stress and strain of present-day business and social life no one can safely afford to neglect the health. It is well known that a large proportion of illness could be prevented by taking proper measures in time, and it is generally recognised that the majority of ailments have their origin in some irregularity or disturbance of the digestive organs. Beecham's Pills are a world-renowned specific for the relief of those stomach disorders to which most people are subject from time to time. That these pills are

is proved by their long continued popularity and the ever increasing demand for them. Sick headache, biliousness, acidity, flatulence, constipation, that feeling of heaviness and general want of tone, are indicative of something wrong with the digestive functions. Beecham's Pills, which are familiarly described as "WORTH A GUINEA A BOX," are speedy and safe in their action, strengthen the stomach, gently stimulate the liver and kidneys, and assist nature in carrying on her work. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of keeping the bowels healthy and regular; there is nothing better for the purpose than a dose of

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Sold in boxes, labelled price 1/1½ (56 pills) and 2/9 (168 pills).

The election of a candidate was taken up, and Mr. Frank Robert Fosbery was elected.

Messrs. F. C. Earle Bland and O. P. Beater kindly consented to act as visitors during ensuing month.

The accounts for the past month, previously examined by the Secretary and submitted to the Ladies' Committee, were laid before the Board, and cheques in discharge thereof, amounting to £100 13/8, were signed.

Subscriptions and donations are earnestly solicited, and will be thankfully received by the Hon. Treasurer, Mr. George P. Beater, 10 Leinster street, or by the Secretary at the Institution.

MILK PROSECUTIONS.

In the Dublin Police Court yesterday, Miss J. Cullen, of 6 Haddington road, was charged at the instance of the Pembroke Urban District Council, with selling milk adulterated with 4.7 per cent. of added water, and which was 6.7 per cent. deficient of fats.

The magistrate, in imposing a fine of 20s. and £1 1s. costs, said that he had no alternative but to do so. He must, however, take into consideration the circumstances that she could recover from the person from whom she bought the milk.

Charles Bedford, 19 East James's street, was summoned for selling milk with 7.1 per cent. of added water, and 6.7 per cent. deficient in fats.

A penalty of £2 2s. and £2 2s. costs, was imposed.
